

ANY NAME CHANGE

Maiden name to Married Name

A certified copy of the marriage license is required for a name change from maiden name and / or previous married name to current married name, regardless of when the marriage occurred. Only official certified marriage certificates issued by a U.S. state or county of said U.S. state. If you were married out of the country, then an official certified marriage certificate from that country.

Divorce decree

For a name change after divorce, a certified copy of the divorce decree showing the new name is required.

Only middle and last names can be changed using these documents; first names or spelling corrections cannot be adjusted at this express location even with supporting documents.
