Hi, my name is Janie Corbett. I was raised in Mathews, VA, and after many years in Florida, I returned to the Middle Peninsula and moved to Gloucester. I retired in 2006 from corporate information technology and as an adjunct professor. I have 40+ years of experience in information technology management and consulting. I was also an adjunct professor at Rappahannock Community College, Thomas Nelson Community College, and ECPI.

I reached out to LVG to share my experiences and knowledge. I would like to teach and tutor all levels of computer literacy, from basic to advanced. Computer literacy is the knowledge and ability to use computers and technology efficiently. Many employers want their workers to have basic computer skills.

So my question to you is - what would you like to learn for yourself, your schoolwork, for a job interview, or to expand your computer skills in your current job?

Joke of the Month

SCIENCE TIP

You can distinguish an alligator from a crocodile by paying attention to whether the animal sees you later or in a while.
