Over the next few months, we'll continue introducing you all to some of our wonderful tutors and volunteers, both long-serving and new!

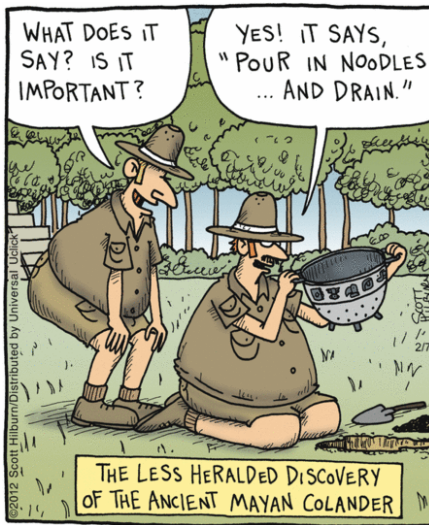

I started working with LVG because my friend Ann Burruss was involved and I loved the idea of helping people learn to read. Reading has always been a huge part of my life and I can't imagine not having access to that enjoyment. Books have consistently opened up the world for me.

Durfee Betts

I began working with a few learners in ESOL (English for Speakers of Other Languages), as well as GED preparation, before transitioning to working with the international students at the Virginia Institute of Marine Sciences (VIMS). They wanted to improve their English and Jim Hudgins and I worked with them every week. They were a highly motivated group (most were getting their PhDs), with the majority being Asian. Although we spent a lot of time on English (pronunciation, spelling, grammar etc.) we also talked a lot about American culture, politics, and anything else that came up. They were a very fun group and it was a highly rewarding experience since they really wanted to learn!

Joke of the Month

This month's 'So you think you can GED?'

Subject: Science! (from GEDPracticeQuestions.com)

Two objects on Earth are dropped from the top of a building that is 70 meters high, at the same time. Object A has a mass of 12 g and object B has a mass of 6 kg. Assuming there is no air resistance, which object will hit the ground first?

- A. Object A
- B. Object B
- C. Both objects will hit the ground at the same time
- D. There is not enough information to determine which object will hit the ground first

Answer will be revealed on Facebook on 7/5!
