Atlanta Named The Nation's Fastest Aging City

For years, we have heard that Atlanta is one of the nation's top destinations for young professionals, who are transforming the planning done by political and economic leaders. But now, the business publication Forbes published a list that ranks Atlanta as the American city with the fastest aging population, according to data from the 2014 American Community Survey. The article states that Atlanta's senior population, those 65 and older, grew by 20 percent from 2010 to 2014.

New Milledgeville manufacturing plant to create 1,000 jobs

Linda S. Morris reports that a manufacturing company plans to move into a vacant building in Milledgeville, creating more than 1,000 jobs. Sparta Industries, a manufacturer of HVAC duct liner insulation, is opening a new plant in the former Rheem Manufacturing building on Roberson Mill Road. Republican Party

In 1980, having reached a point that I could no longer support the Democrat Party and just the thought of the DP made me sick at my stomach; I became a Reagan Republican. And, I not only became a Regan Republican, I ran for Congress as a Republican Candidate from the Second District of Georgia. My experience with Second District Republicans was not a particularly good one as they were not really interested in supporting my candidacy. I was not really from the Republican Establishment of the District. They were so use to not having a Candidate; they kept their Republican club, maintained control, and voted for the Democrat of their choice. The Districts have been slightly altered and Georgia is now a Republican State; however no Republican has ever represented the Second District of Georgia, probably never will.

In 2014, I broke ranks with the Republican Party and became an Independent. It had become very clear the Republican Establishment, now having the control of the Congress of the United States, did not intend to do anything to challenge Obama and the Democrats. They were more concerned with trying to hold on to the US Congress and not offend anyone than really challenge Obama and the Democrats.

Now, I am a Trump Independent. Yes, Trump decided to run as a Republican and not make a third party challenge. In doing so, Trump has blown all of the Republican Establishment Candidates out of the water as well as Ted Cruse, who was also not liked by the Republican Establishment. Cruse was not liked because he, Cruse, actually tried to slow Obama and the Democrats down and the Establishment Republicans wanted him to compromise.

For many years I have believed the Establishment Republicans were more loyal to their Party than the United States of America. As long as they can maintain control of their Party they have little concern for how the Democrats are destroying the Nation; and destroying the Nation they are. Of course the attitudes of Establishment Republicans are making it very easy for the Democrats.

True to their colors, the Establishment Republicans are refusing to get behind Trump even though Trump beat their Candidates in their own Primaries. They are not, nor have they been listening to the voice of the people. In their opinion, ER's, the Trump supporters were/are obviously not real Republicans. Yes, the ER's are more loyal to their Party than the Nation. They are going to prove such by helping the Democrats to destroy the remainder of the Nation under four years of Hillary and the Democrats by not supporting Trump.

Any Republican, Democrat, or other, that really loves this Nation, these United States of America, more than Political Party or Political Ideology, will get behind Trump and support him. With Trump this Nation has a chance however slight that chance might be. And, it is slight. November will tell what kind of people we have actually become.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
 Michael A. Guido, D.D.
 Metter, Georgia

It's been wisely said that "If He is not Lord of all He is not Lord at all. If we do not value Him above all, we do not really value Him at all." Strong are words that find their conclusion when we say, "Jesus Christ, Savior and Lord." There is a natural progression that begins with Jesus as our Savior and ends with Him as our Lord. Shouting in a loud voice with words that came from the bottom of his heart, David proclaimed, "Be exalted, O God, above the heavens; let Your glory be over all the earth." With God being Who He is and What He is and you and I being who we are and what we are, establishes a very specific relationship. It declares His role and our role: He is our Sovereign. And as our Sovereign we are to be submissive to Him. All that we are or ever will be and all that we have or ever will have is a result of the grace and mercy that comes from Him: our Sovereign. If God were not Sovereign, He would have no authority to dispense grace and mercy. That is what sovereigns do: they rule over their subjects and choose who will receive their favor. And the more power that any sovereign has the more important and precious is the grace and mercy they bestow upon their subjects. Our Sovereign said, "Whoever chooses me to be their Savior and Lord will receive my love, mercy and grace and will have eternal life with me." He also said, "Remember I am with you every step of life's journey to protect you." No wonder David said, "Be exalted, O God." Visit us at: SowerMinistries.org
