Keeping An Eye On Bats As Their Numbers Drop

Believe it or not, there are some people in the South who love watching bats the way others love watching birds. If that’s you, and you’ve noticed fewer bats in recent years, know you aren’t imagining things. And even if you find bats kind of creepy, experts say you might change your tune once the bugs they eat become pests in increasing numbers in the Summer. That’s because bats in the South are under pressure. (Ga Trend)

A Georgia County Where the Rebel Flag Is Still Revered

Brandon Heath, Haralson County’s chief magistrate judge, flies the Confederate battle flag on his property. A version of it adorns the front bumper of his cherry-red Chevrolet pickup. It is painted on the wall of the gymnasium of his alma mater, Haralson County High School, where the sports teams are called the Rebels and Rebelettes.

Hollywood names Georgia a top rival in pilot production

Staff reports that January through April means pilot season for television shows, and Georgia is becoming a coveted spot for pilot production, according to a study released by FilmL.A. on July 7. During the 2014-2015 pilot cycle, Georgia tied for fourth with Toronto for the number of pilots filmed in a location. Of the 202 films surveyed by FilmL.A., 91 shot in California, 25 shot in New York, 16 shot in Vancouver, nine shot in Atlanta and Toronto and eight shot in Louisiana. No other location hosted more than five pilots. (Ga Trend)

A good omen for Georgia Medicaid waiver plan?

Ohio program that gave insurance to thousands of low-income patients helped them improve on health measures and also produced unexpectedly low costs, according to a study published Tuesday. Those findings may have a significant impact in Georgia. State officials are considering a proposal from Grady Health System in Atlanta to extend coverage to uninsured Georgians through a special Medicaid “waiver.” Grady officials say the waiver program would be modeled after the Cleveland MetroHealth Care Plus program. ## Let tomorrow always be another day in memory of Confederate War Dead

The House having voted to ban the display of Confederate flags at historic federal cemeteries in the Deep South is the equivalent of robbing dead Confederate soldiers of their patriot status, condemning their memories forever in absentia and even desecrating their graves.

It is akin to ruthlessly tearing out pages from the history book of time; bequeathing an unforgivable denial to up and coming generations born with an unalienable right to explore every era of their nation's past. Banning the display of Confederate flags on the final resting places of Confederate soldiers is like plunging a rusty sword into the hearts of the great great grandchildren who remember their fallen with pride. Ruthless, vote-pandering politicians of the day have proven they will exploit anything even all of life's memories, a century after death:

"The House has voted to ban the display of Confederate flags at historic federal cemeteries in the deep South. (FoxNews, July 8, 2015 )

"The low-profile move came late Tuesday after a brief debate on a measure funding the National Park Service, which maintains 14 national cemeteries, most of which contain graves of Civil War soldiers.

"The proposal by California Democrat Jared Huffman would block the Park Service from allowing private groups from decorating the graves of southern soldiers with Confederate flags in states that commemorate Confederate

Memorial Day. The cemeteries affected are the Andersonville and Vicksburg cemeteries in Georgia and Mississippi.

"Black Confederate Soldiers included men like Amos Rucker who fought alongside his Southern Comrades and upon his death in 1905 was buried with full honors with his Confederate gray uniform and casket draped with the Confederate Battle flag. His long missing grave marker at Atlanta's Southview Cemetery was remarked in 2006 by the Sons of Confederate Veterans. (Calvin E. Johnson Jr., Canada Free Press, Aug. 8, 2010).

"Today, some members of the Martin Luther King family are buried near Amos and his wife, Martha at Southview Cemetery."

Why has a veil of silence hung like a pall over the life stories of Black Confederates? Why are today's school children kept from hearing about them? The memory of African Americans who courageously served in the Civil War deserve so much more than to have those cherished memories exploited by crass politicians long after their deaths.

In the last line uttered by Scarlett in Margaret Mitchell's immortal words in her book 'Gone with the Wind', "After all, tomorrow is another day."

Please God. let there always be a tomorrow, another day for the memory of the Black Confederate Soldiers of the U.S. Civil War. God rest them, each and every one.

Back to the future!

Real-life hoverboard breaks record

A hoverboard rider recently soared into Guinness World Records after flying a record distance on the futuristic, flying skateboard.

Catalin Alexandru Duru, the inventor of the prototype hoverboard, traveled the length of two-and-a-half football fields (about 905 feet) to achieve the world record title before landing gently in the sparkling water of Quebec's Lake Ouareau. Duru reached a height of 16.4 feet, but the flying board is allegedly capable of much greater altitudes, said Duru, who told Guinness World Records that his machine could reach "scary heights."

"The prototype can be used anywhere but is usually tested over water because of how dangerously high it can fly (which is ironic considering that the movie joked that it can't)," Duru wrote in a description of a YouTube video of the hoverboard's record-breaking flight. ### BLOND JOKE

We went to see a movie the other night. I sat in an aisle seat as I usually do because it feels a little roomier. Just as the feature was about to start, a blonde from the center of the row got up and started working her way out. "Excuse me, sorry, oops, excuse me, pardon me, gotta hurry, oops, excuse me."

By the time she got to me, I was trying to look around her and I was a little impatient, so I said, "Couldn't you have done this a little earlier?"

"No!" she said in a loud whisper, "The 'TURN OFF YOUR CELL PHONE PLEASE' message just flashed up on the screen and mine is in the car."

problems. When life is pleasant and pleasurable we rarely pause to think about Him or thank Him for the good times. When difficulties arise and we call for help in a hurry, we may not know what to say or how to say it. If we know how to pray when the sun shines, we will know how to pray when the storm comes. Most of us have time to pray when we have major problems. We need to develop the habit of praying at all times, and soon we will discover that "God is a very present help in times of trouble."

Two men were hunting in Africa. As they were walking across a shaky bridge, two lions started to chase them. Realizing they may not make it, James said, "Pray, John!" John, frightened, said, "All I can remember is: 'Lord, make us truly grateful for what we're about to receive.'" "Not for the lions, John, for us!" Sadly, it seems that most of the time when we call upon the Lord for His help, guidance, peace or comfort, it is when we are facing life's biggest threats or

Will the Internet kill your free community paper?
Did instant potatoes kill potatoes?

New technologies change many things. But not everything. You may tweet, blog, surf, shop, or search online but you continue to read your free community paper. You just proved it.

Readership of free community papers is now higher than paid daily papers and continues to grow. Rather than being replaced by "instant" media, your local free community paper has become an important part of our neighborhood.

The reason, which sometimes is not heard because of all the noise about the Internet, is pretty obvious: your free community paper does what the Internet doesn't. We promote connections at a local level. Free papers join readers and advertisers in ways digital media doesn't.

In fact, the local content and power of your free paper makes advertising even more effective. We are the number one medium for driving purchases. That's important in every product category.

Including potatoes.

Martha's Breakfast Casserole

Ingredients

- 1 (4 ounce) can chopped green chilis
- 1 large bag of shredded hashbrowns ( I use just shy of 32 oz bag), thawed enough to stir
- 1 Tablespoon dried onion
- 1 medium container (16 ounces) cottage cheese
- 2 cups grated cheddar cheese
- 2 cups cubed ham or cooked sausage (pick you favorite, we like sausage)
- 12 eggs

Instructions

1. Preaheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine everything but the eggs in a large bowl and pour mixture into a greased 9x13 pan.
2. Beat eggs and pour over the mixture. Bake at 350 uncovered for 1 hour or until set and slightly brown on top. It can be refrigerated overnight before cooking in the morning. Serves 16.
3. *This can also be made ahead and frozen (raw) and brought out for guests. When frozen cook for 1 1/2 to 2 hours. 1st hour covered 2nd hour uncovered.
