COMMUNITY NEWS

Tyler Perry's new studio could create up to 8,300 jobs

Tyler Perry's new studio at Fort McPherson could create up to 8,300 jobs, according to filmindustrynetwork.biz. However, it is likely that only a fraction of these jobs will be permanent jobs, and the rest will be temporary positions or contract work. Once completed, the studio could produce about 10 to 20 movies at once, and each production could hire 200 to 300 crew members. But as is the nature of film work, once each movie wraps, its crew members will be looking for their next projects. (Ga Trend)

Gates Foiled by Georgia's Powerful Vidalia Onion Regulators

Margaret Newkirk reports that the business acumen of software magnate Bill Gates, which made him the world's richest person, may not apply to onions. A farm owned by a Gates-related company is on probation in Georgia after neighboring farmers accused it of substituting garden-variety bulbs for renowned Vidalias, the Bordeaux grapes of the onion world. Delta bans shipments of big-game trophies

Staff reports that following the global outpouring of shock and grief over the hunting death of Cecil the Lion, Atlanta-based Delta Air Lines Inc. (NYSE: DAL) has banned the shipment of big-game trophies worldwide on its flights. "Effective immediately, Delta will officially ban shipment of all lion, leopard, elephant, rhinoceros and buffalo trophies worldwide as freight," Delta said. "Prior to this ban, Delta's strict acceptance policy called for absolute compliance with all government regulations regarding protected species. Delta will also review acceptance policies of other hunting trophies with appropriate government agencies and other organizations supporting legal shipments." (Ga Trend)

The energy future is now

The battle is pretty much over for renewable energy; it is no longer a fringe cause. Solar, wind and biomass are part of the energy mix. Sure, there are skirmishes ahead, mostly over timetables and methodologies, but fossil fuels like coal no longer rule. Nuclear is on the rise, as Georgia Power and its partners are at work building two new reactors at Plant Vogtle. (Ga Trend)

Georgia Tech receives $4.2M federal grant for cybersecurity research

Georgia Tech has received a $4.2 million federal grant for cybersecurity research. The grant, awarded by the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) and Air Force Research Laboratory, will help researchers at GT's College of Computing study how data moves between computers and whether any malicious software code is added to data during transfer. (Ga Trend)

Apple is Looking at Becoming a Cellular Service Provider

The iPhone maker is investigating the possibility of selling wireless services directly to customers through arrangements made with mobile carriers. Apple is apparently testing the waters to buy cellular phone services directly from major carriers in the United States and Europe so it can then offer mobile services to its own customers without a middleman. So far, the system is only being tested and no decisions have been announced about whether it will come to fruition, the story said. (e week.com)

Isakson Introduces Georgia State University Vice Provost at Senate Hearing on Higher Education

Highlights Georgia State University's achievements toward improving student success WASHINGTON – U.S. Senator Johnny Isakson, R-Ga., today introduced Timothy Renick, Vice Provost at Georgia State University, "Two years ago, I bragged about Georgia State University, in particular the Panther Grant program, which is an innovation of the university used today to ensure students on the verge of dropping out because of a minimal financial problem receive the assistance needed to stay in school and graduate.

"I think it's interesting to note that in addition to the Panther grant program, they have also developed a student tracking system that tracks over 30,000 students at the university and measures them against 800 unique identifiers which indicate pitfalls they could be susceptible to that hinder or prevent graduation.

Self-cleaning

My friend Lisa is fascinated by the self-cleaning oven. In principle, it takes care of itself, an ongoing cycle of productivity. One button gets it dirty, then another button cleans it right up. Even better, consider the camera that cleans its sensor every time it's turned on.

Relationships, processes, interactions--these can be self-cleaning too, if we build them that way.

Instead of waiting for things to degrade or even to break, we build in a cycle of honesty, a tradition of check-ins. Instead of a strategy that includes [and then an emergency happens/and then a miracle happens] as a key steps, we have a process in which growth fuels more growth, where satisfaction leads to more satisfaction.

The interstate highway system will continue to degrade until it falls apart, because infrastructure funding and repair wasn't built into it from the start. On the other hand, a company that earmarks a big part of its sales commissions and profits to ongoing customer support probably won't have to overspend when a crisis hits.

Self-cleaning systems don't careen until they hit a crisis point, because they're designed from the start to be in sync, the process itself avoids the crisis.

It's neither obvious nor easy to build a system that's self-cleaning. It requires addressing problems before they show up, and putting in place the (apparently distracting and expensive) cycles necessary to keep them from showing up in the first place. -Seth Godin

Six short stories I hope you enjoy.

{1} Once, all villagers decided to pray for rain, on the day of prayer all the people gathered, but only one boy came with an umbrella.
That's FAITH!

{2} When you throw a baby in the air, she laughs because she knows you will catch her.
That's TRUST!

{3} Every night we go to bed, without any assurance of being alive the next morning but still we set the alarms to wake up.
That's HOPE!

{4} We plan big things for tomorrow in spite of zero knowledge of the future.
That's CONFIDENCE!

{5} We see the world suffering, but still we get married and have children.
That's LOVE!

{6} On an old man's shirt was written a sentence "I am not 80 years old.... I am sweet 16 with 64 years' experience."
That's ATTITUDE!

Have a very happy day!

Often we deceive ourselves without realizing it. Our hearts can be deeply moved when we learn of an urgent need to do something special for our Lord. We gladly give - sometimes to the point when we ourselves have to do without. That is God-honoring and will not go unnoticed by Him. We tend to take great satisfaction when He honors us when we honor Him. And no doubt there have been times when we have done this and God has blessed us in ways that we never thought possible. Again, it is His way of blessing us for blessing Him. And heaven rejoices. But David reminds us that there is something more that God wants from us than any gift we could give Him. In fact, he says that "sacrifices and offerings," even "burnt offerings and sin offerings you did not require." What is it, then that you want from me God? After a moment's thought he said, "Then I realized," what You want. ME! "Here I am, I have come back and desire to do your will, O my God, Your law is within my heart." He could not get away from God's law that was written in his heart. God's word convicted Him. Now David realized that none of his possessions made any difference to God. Nothing he had given or could give to God was of any significance - now or in the future. God wanted him completely to Himself to do whatever He, his Master, had for him to do. David, the Lord's anointed, finally presented himself in complete dedication to his God.

Prayer to HOLY SPIRIT

HOLY SPIRIT, you who make me see everything and show me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the Divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that has been done to me, and you who are in all instances of my life, with me, I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you, no matter how great material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen.

Say this three consecutive days, asking for your wish, After the third day, wish will be granted, no matter how difficult. Promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your wish is granted as mine was.

Thank you very much. R.B

You may have thousands of dollars worth of items gathering dust... almost everyone has something of value they no longer need or want: inherited items, jewelry that no longer fits your style, gold and silver items that are old or broken, watches no longer worn and even old toys. Items that may be useless to you - may be considered real treasures. So bring your items in.

FREE CONSULTATIONS
We're pleased to bring to our store, several national experts, each with over 25 years of national buying experience, so you can be assured of a knowledgeable evaluation of all of your items.

We take the time to explain the value of each of your items, so you know exactly what's in your possession. Based on this evaluation, we may make you an offer that you can accept, if you wish, for there is never any pressure to sell. As you know, you can rely on the reputation of Steel's Jewelry and you can rely on our expert evaluations.

Skillet Potatoes

Ingredients:

- 2 large russet potatoes cut into 1" cubes
- 14 oz. smoked sausage, thinly sliced
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1/2 c. chopped bell pepper (red or green)
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/4 c. chicken stock
- 1 1/2 tsp. paprika
- 1/4 tsp. each salt and pepper
- 1/4 tsp. dried parsley
- 2 tbsps. Veg. oil

Preparation

In a large skillet heat oil...add in the smoked sausage and cook, turning often till browned on edges. Remove meat from skillet and add in the potatoes and cook over med. high heat till they begin to brown and become tender. Add in the onions, pepper and garlic cooking for about 5 minutes then add in the chicken stock and cover. Cook for about 5-6 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove cover and check potatoes for doneness. Add the spices, stir and add in the smoked sausage. Combine all ingredients and serve. This recipe serves 4 people.
