COMMUNITY NEWS

Quitman-(2-23-16) Brooks County School Board Vote on Superintendent Finalist RECOMMENDATION: President Shealy called for a motion to designate Dr. Vickie Reed as the sole finalist for the Superintendent Search for Brooks County Schools. All members of the school board voted in favor.

Trendsetters: 9 Bike-Friendly Cities

Bicycle tourism is a growing trend in the state that can help cities and regions not only showcase some of their unique outdoor assets, but also draw thousands of people to their communities for organized bike rides.

It also has a substantial – and increasing – economic impact. According to a 2013 study, the 61.5-mile Silver Comet Trail, which runs through Cobb, Paulding and Polk counties all the way to the Alabama state line, generates $120 million in total expenditures each year and supports roughly 1,300 jobs and $37 million in earnings. Beyond that, biking can also be fun. So, whether you're interested in bicycle tourism for your town or just want to get outside come springtime, take a look at some of Georgia's best places to be outdoors and hit the trails. – Christy Simo (Ga Trend)

Testing and teacher evaluation bills could change Georgia schools

Two test-related education bills got separate hearings in state House and Senate committees Wednesday, with one advancing. Senate Bill 355 by William T. Ligon, Jr., R-Brunswick got voted out of the Senate Education and Youth committee after major amendments. The bill initially targeted the use of tests in teacher evaluations, but that part was deleted. Now, it only addresses the right of parents to refuse to allow their children to take the standardized tests, with guarantees that students who opt out won't be punished or forced to "sit and stare" at their desks while their peers take the exams.

Georgia Foreclosure Rates Rank 19th Highest In Nation

Georgia was one of the states hit hardest during the real estate crash that began in 2007, but it appears Georgia and metro Atlanta are still moving in the right direction. Georgia had the 19th highest foreclosure rate in the nation, according to Realty Trac's data for last month, which is a major improvement from January 2013, when Georgia came in 5th place. Terminally ill Army combat veteran says VA abandoned him

Highly decorated Army combat veteran John Marshall traces his terminal cancer to hours spent over burn pits in Iraq, where everything from disabled IEDs to lithium batteries was reduced to cinder and smoke.

Now back home in the Phoenix suburb of Surprise, Ariz., the 31-year-old former sergeant is facing death and is claiming the VA is AWOL.

"It's all just a big slap in the face," Marshall told FoxNews.com. "I tried to be the perfect soldier. I did everything I was told, and now they just forced my claim through and denied coverage and my benefits."

A officials did not immediately return requests for comment. Marshall said agency officials don't believe his cancer has anything to do with his service to the nation, and that he missed mandatory appointments last year while he was hospitalized with pneumonia and battling post-traumatic stress disorder.

Pvt. John Marshall and his wife Ashley say that the VA had cancelled and denied his request citing that there was not enough evidence to support his claims of PTSD and possibly contracting soft tissue sarcoma while serving in the Middle East. Terrified of leaving his wife and two young children destitute because of the cost of treatment that can only delay the inevitable, Marshall and his supporters are raising money online to cover the growing cost of his medical bills.

"My prayers are with you and your family," wrote one donor who pledged $25. Another donation, for $250, came with no name or message.

Fr. Scalia's Prayer one for Us All

Barack Obama's joke that there was a lot to get done during his final days in office, including "appointing judges" will be only as lasting as were the 'governor' guffaws 'at yesterday's National Governors Association gathering.

"Some of you may be in the final year of your term, working as hard as you can to get as much done as possible for the folks you represent, fixing roads, educating our children, helping people retrain, appointing judges, the usual stuff," the president jested, as the crowd in attendance burst into laughter.

It was a tasteless joke from a jester that passed as swiftly as the fleeting, wraith-like forms of Barack and Michelle Obama paying their 2-minute-long "respects" in the Great Hall of the Supreme Court Building, where the body of Justice Antonin Scalia was laid in repose.

Whether they were trying for that last public slap in the face or not, the black-clad, so-obviously—in-a-hurry Obamas were the only sinister impression in the Great Hall where thousands came to pay their last respects to an iconic justice loved by so many. The Obamas' in-and-out routine bombed, just as effectively as Obama's playing golf act bombed the day of Justice Scalia's funeral when rain drove him off the golf course. (Gateway Pundit, Feb. 21, 2016)

Even after death, it's Justice Scalia 1, Barack Obama 0.

For the heart-rending words in the eulogy given to his Father by Catholic priest Fr. Paul Scalia, offered both for the one who lay in repose in the Supreme Court's Great Hall, and the One to Whom we pray in Heaven, will never be forgotten.

Fr. Scalia's words in prayer were not intended only for his own grieving Mother and the Family of which he is one of nine, but for all of those who feel the chill of their own mortality in the untimely passing of another.

Who, once made aware of them, could ever forget Fr. Scalia's words in prayer:

"We are gathered here because of one man. A man known personally to many of us, known only by reputation to even more. A man loved by many, scorned by others. A man known for great controversy, and for great compassion. That man, of course, is Jesus of Nazareth.

"It is He whom we proclaim. Jesus Christ, son of the father, born of the Virgin Mary, crucified, buried, risen, seated at the right hand of the Father. It is because of him. Because of his life, death and resurrection that we do not mourn as those who have no hope, but in confidence we commend Antonin Scalia to the mercy of God."

With words that came like balm for souls locked in sorrow, Fr. Paul reminded all that death never took his father from our midst, but salvation came to call; the same salvation available to any who believe in Christ's promise if only we repent.

"Scripture says Jesus Christ is the same yesterday today and forever. And that sets a good course for our thoughts and our prayers here today. In effect, we look in three directions. To yesterday, in thanksgiving. To today, in petition. And into eternity, with hope." Fr. Scalia continued.

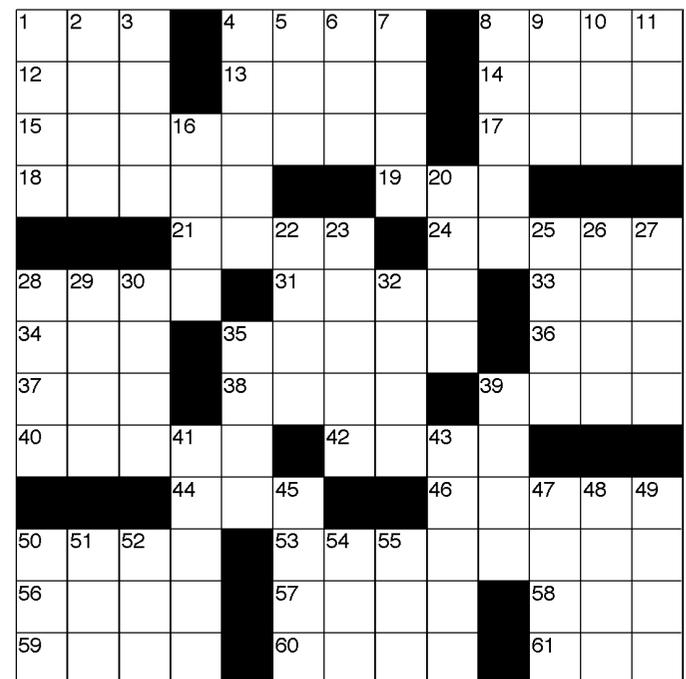

"We look to Jesus Christ yesterday, that is, to the past, in thanksgiving for the blessings God bestowed upon Dad. In the past week, many have recounted what Dad did for them. But here today, we recount what God did for Dad, how he blessed him.

"We give thanks first of all for the atoning death and life-giving resurrection of Jesus Christ. Our Lord died and rose not only for all of us, but also for each of us. And at this time we look to that yesterday of his death and resurrection, and we give thanks that he died and rose for Dad.

"Further, we give thanks that Jesus brought him to new life in baptism, nourished him with the Eucharist, and healed him in the confessional.

"We give thanks that Jesus bestowed upon him 55 years of marriage to the woman he loved, a woman who could match him at every step, and even hold him accountable.

"God blessed Dad with a deep Catholic faith: The conviction that Christ's presence and power continue in the world today through His body, the Church. He loved the clarity and coherence of the church's teachings. He treasured the church's ceremonies, especially the beauty of her ancient worship. He trusted the power of her sacraments as the means of salvation as Christ working within him for his salvation."

In the midst of tears and feelings of inconsolable loss, the son of Justice Scalia dispersed prayer in the air which will remain in memory for all time.

And no tasteless little jester's joke could ever take its place.

FEELING FULL

Hi, this is Roxie Price, Family and Consumer Sciences Agent with UGA Extension in Tift County.

Many of us were taught as children to eat everything on our plates because it was important not to waste food. If you were taught this as a child, it may surprise you that experts now recommend letting your child decide how much to eat.

When children are forced to eat everything on their plate, it often pushes them past the point of feeling full. This leads to a habit of ignoring the body's cues of how much food is enough.

Provide healthy options in appropriate portions, and let your child decide when he or she is full.

We often do this as adults. Especially if we have paid a high price for the food we are eating. We often try to eat our money's worth and ignore our body's cues of feeling full. Slow down and listen to your body.

This has been Roxie Price, Family and Consumer Sciences Agent with the UGA Extension in Tift County.

Have you ever met someone who did not like their name? Perhaps it reminded them of a person who disturbed them in one way or another. Or it may have represented something that was offensive to them. Maybe it "sounded" like a girl's name or a boy's name or a sissy's name. Then we are occasionally "given" names by the way we act or what we do or even how we look.

David knew there was something unique and special about a name that was above every other name. He knew that there was one name that represented the solution for the problems of mankind. He understood the significance of that name. He knew that the road for man to recover from the fall - from destruction and death to happiness and heaven - was in that name.

"Save me, O God, by Your name; vindicate me by Your might." In asking God to save him, David wanted God to deliver him from his sinful condition - even though the Savior had not come and completed His work on the cross. He was well aware of his sins and shortcomings and knew that there was nothing he could do to rescue or redeem himself. Only a gracious God who had rescued His children from times of destruction and death in the past could do the same for him in the present. He knew God's power from His-story in the past as He brought His children to their Promised Land.

When David called on God's name in prayer, he brought God into that moment in his life. He needed God to be with him, hear him, save him and deliver him.

JOKE

They Are Stopped By The Police
John and Jessica were on their way home from the bar one night and John got pulled over by the police. The officer told John that he was stopped because his tail light was burned out. John said, "I'm very sorry officer, I didn't realize it was out, I'll get it fixed right away." Just then Jessica said, "I knew this would happen when I told you two days ago to get that light fixed." So the officer asked for John's license and after looking at it said, "Sir your license has expired." And again John apologized and mentioned that he didn't realize that it had expired and would take care of it first thing in the morning. Jessica said, "I told you a week ago that the state sent you a letter telling you that your license had expired." Well by this time, John is a bit upset with his wife contradicting him in front of the officer, and he said in a rather loud voice, "Jessica, shut your mouth!" The officer then leaned over toward Jessica and asked. "Does your husband always talk to you like that?" Jessica replied, "only when he's drunk."

When creativity becomes a profession...

It often stops being creative. Ad agencies are some of the most conservative organizations you'll encounter. They've been so trained by fearful clients, they censor themselves regularly. Successful authors are pushed by concerned publishers to become more true to their genres. And the movie industry... well, it's an industry first. This is why so many bestsellers are surprise bestsellers. In the words of William Goldman, no one knows anything. But, even though they don't know, the industrial protocol demands that they act like they do. Shareholders hesitate to give bonuses to CEOs who say, "I don't know, let's try it." If you want to be creative, truly creative, it might pay to avoid a job with the word 'creative' in it.
-Seth Godin

Unstuffed Cabbage Skillet

What You'll Need:

- 1 tablespoon canola oil
- 1 pound lean ground turkey
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 (28-ounce) can diced tomatoes (no salt added)
- 1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce (no salt added)
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 3 tablespoons sugar substitute (like Splenda)
- 1 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 small head green cabbage, coarsely chopped (about 5 cups)

What To Do:

In a large deep skillet over medium heat, heat oil; cook turkey and onion 5 to 7 minutes, or until turkey is no longer pink, stirring occasionally.
Add remaining ingredients except cabbage and mix well. Stir in cabbage and bring to a boil. Cover and simmer 25 to 30 minutes, or until cabbage is tender.
