SECTION 3: Website Maintenance & Best Practices

Your website is the primary gateway for prospective customers to learn about your small business. The primary goal of your website is to drive qualified leads by online form submissions, in-person visits, or phone calls. As such, the website must provide visitors with the right amount of information about your products, services, and experience to drive them to take these actions.

What and When to Post: search engines like Google will rank your website higher if relevant content is added or refreshed at least twice a month.

Content Suggestions: post new content, photos and videos to the site on a regular basis. Include new testimonials that you capture from Yelp, clients and other sources.

Note: Be careful not to add too much content on each page or create a lot of pages on your website because you don’t want to overwhelm visitors with too many options or too much information. Focus on creating new content that quickly and efficiently delivers your message.

Data-informed Decisions: Using your website's built-in analytics tool, called "Stats," monitor inbound traffic referrals (ie., Facebook, Yelp, YouTube, affiliates) each month to see which channels can be attributed to driving the most traffic and leads. This will tell you which channels to pay more attention to. Also, look to see the most popular pages to focus your attention on adding new content, as well as number of Visitors, Visits, Page Views, etc.

SECTION 4: Social Media & Best Practices

Facebook:

This social network presents your company with an opportunity to speak candidly with friends, prospects and local customers. It's through honesty and consistency that a corporate voice begins to emerge, and brings with it relevance to those who follow you. If well-maintained, our expectation is that this channel can drive more than 10% of new leads to your website.

What and When to Post: it is important to post new content at least twice a week. This can be in the form of status updates and uploading photos or video.

Special Tip: We built your site to be fully compatible with Facebook. Try this: Log into your business Facebook account and before you log out, go to your website. On any post, click the Facebook "Like" button and that content will automatically get sent to your business's Facebook wall. Wow! It's a big time-saver when you're short on time to write new content specifically for Facebook.

Invite Friends: Leverage your own personal account to invite friends to "Like" your business page. This includes rallying younger members of your family and friends, who are already masters of Facebook. This initial enlisting of Likes will be critical to getting your Facebook page off the ground and activating it as an effective marketing tool. Also be sure to build a network among current and even potential clients.

Twitter:

This social network gives your business the opportunity to broadcast short, concise messages, thoughts, and images to your audience. There is a strict 160-character limit on the length of your posts.

Build your following, reputation, and customer's trust with these simple practices:

1. Share. Share photos and behind the scenes info about your business. Even better, give a glimpse of developing projects and events. Users come to Twitter to get and share the latest, so give it to them!

2. Listen. Regularly monitor the comments about your company, brand, and products.
3. Ask. Ask questions of your followers to glean valuable insights and show that you are listening.
4. Respond. Respond to compliments and feedback in real time
5. Reward. Tweet updates about special offers, discounts and time-sensitive deals.
6. Demonstrate wider leadership and know-how. Reference articles and links about the bigger picture as it relates to your business.
7. Champion your stakeholders. Re-tweet and reply publicly to great tweets posted by your followers and customers.
8. Establish the right voice. Twitter users tend to prefer a direct, genuine, and of course, a likable tone from your business, but think about your voice as you Tweet. How do you want your business to appear to the Twitter community?

What and When to Post: it is important to post new content every day or at least 3 times per week. This can be in the form of text, uploading photos, or video.

Content Suggestions: Same as with Facebook, try to write posts that link back to your website – remember, your website is where a customer lead is most likely to take place.

Special Tip: We built your site to be fully compatible with Twitter. Try this: Log into your business Twitter account and before you log out, go to your website. On any post, click the Twitter “Tweet” button and that content will automatically get sent to your business’s Twitter account. Wow! It’s a big time-saver when you’re short on time to write new content specifically for Twitter.

SECTION 5: Notes About Your Site

Mobile:

Your website has a mobile version, which loads automatically when being viewed on a smartphone (iPhone, Android, etc.). We’ve designed the mobile version to deliver all the content of your regular site, but in a format that’s specifically designed for people on the go. This means that you don’t have to worry about what information you should put on your mobile site, or how it will look...we take care of that for you. And, every time a new mobile operating system version comes out for these devices, your site will automatically be compatible, so no need to worry.
