Events

Before attending events, be sure to check for the latest updates in case of cancellations or changes.

No matter the season, Dallas County and its communities offer much to explore and delight in. The extensive trail system is enjoyed year-round by bicyclists, walkers and runners, who relish the scenery and its seasonal changes. Parks and Dallas County Conservation programs draw those interested in a myriad of outdoor activities. Museums and other entertainment venues invite visitors indoors for a break from the cold — or the heat. Community festivals showcase the small-town friendliness and hometown warmth that make Dallas County the place to enjoy summer fun. Art festivals, the Dallas County Fair, farmers markets and more add to the offerings. And, for a special holiday season, attend the open houses, parades and other celebrations offered. Enjoy Dallas County — where you will be greeted with a smile and are sure to make lasting memories.

Museums, arts & parks

Much can be learned about Dallas County's history at its myriad of historic public buildings, cemeteries, museums, galleries, historic markers, century-old ballrooms and theaters. The arts abound, entertainment is plentiful, community festivals deliver family fun and memories, and outdoor recreational opportunities are plentiful and varied with numerous golf courses, trails, parks and attractions. Explore and enjoy the wide range of offerings. Be sure to check for updated hours of operation.

Adel Historical Museum

1129 Main St., Adel | 515-993-1032

www.adeliowa.gov/explore_adel/adel_historical_museum.php

The property at 1129 Main St. was built in 1857 and served as the first two-story brick schoolhouse in Adel. The museum houses a collection of artifacts and documents representing a significant record of Adel history. The collection includes the desk and chair of George Clarke, an Adel native who served as governor of Iowa from 1913-1917. Clarke was the grandfather of 1939 Heisman Trophy winner Nile Kinnick, who played for the University of Iowa. The Museum also has Kinnick information on display. The museum is open May through September on Saturdays from 1-3 p.m. or by appointment. See the website for information.

The Brenton Arboretum

25141 260th St., Dallas Center

515-992-4211

www.thebrentonarboretum.org

An arboretum is a place where trees and shrubs are grown for research, demonstration and educational purposes. This unique 141-acre living museum in Dallas County combines the horticultural study of trees with a commitment to natural landscape management and conservation. Visitors can study the 2,500 plants, all suitable for planting in central Iowa, surrounded by a beautiful natural setting of native prairie, wetlands, a lake, pond and streams. A variety of educational programs and activities are also offered. See the website for details.

Visitors to Perry often start their journey at the Carnegie Library Museum. Built in 1904 with a grant from Andrew Carnegie, the building initially served as the town's public library. Now restored to its 1910 appearance, the building is on the National Register of Historic Places. Still a working library, its collection includes many of the library's original 1,000 titles, as well as special collections of Midwest literature, women's fiction, children's books, and books on literacy and libraries. Visitors can also explore stories through temporary exhibits. The Court Room on the basement level recreates a brief time in Perry's history (1907-1917) when this room served as the town's courthouse. Also on the basement level, the Women's Room tells stories of the bonds formed between women who spent time here when they came into town from neighboring farms.

Map and Guide to Area Parks and Recreation

1 Forest Park

Forest Park Museum and Arboretum
This park is the location of the administrative office of the Dallas County Conservation Board. Forest Park Museum and Arboretum was originally developed in the 1940s by Eugene Haste, a farmer, local historian and author. The arboretum was planted in straight lines to allow farming between the rows of growing trees. His love of history prompted many local residents to donate artifacts to this private collection. Mr. Haste's museum, portraying the history of Dallas County, opened to the public in 1953.

2 Sportsman Park

A forty acre tract of oak and hickory timber that offers electric and non-electric camping, year around cabins, enclosed shelter houses for reservation, an accessible playground, restroom facilities and shower building.

3 Dawson Depot

Dawson Depot-Restored 1880s
Depot is open from 8 am to 10 pm daily from May 1 to October 31. The building is adjacent to the Raccoon River Valley Trail and serves as a visitor center and restroom facility.

4 Fazel Wildlife Area

5 Voas Nature Area

This approximately 700 acre park is west of Minburn and about 1/2 mile east of the North Raccoon River. The original 265 acres were donated to the Dallas County Conservation Board by Lyle and Mae Voas. Both brother and sister had a desire to see their family farmland restored to woodland, wetlands, and prairie similar to conditions present at pre-Euro-American settlement. Additional acres have been added to the park through generous private donations and efforts.

Dexter Community House (aka Dexter Roundhouse)

707 Dallas St., Dexter

www.dexteriowa.org/index.php?page=historical-attractions

Built in 1916, this building celebrated its 100th birthday in 2016. The unique elliptical-shaped building is listed on the National Register of Historical Places. The engineer who designed the building was Matthew Leander King, grandfather of actor Nick Nolte. The building features the original stage, box office and orchestra pit with accommodations for seating large groups for performances or for sit-down dining and dances. A display of historical pictures is now in place for all to enjoy. A historical marker on the Community House grounds was dedicated in August 2018.

The museum is open Sundays, May through October, 1-3 p.m., and by appointment. Visit the website for details. Just off I-80, the Dexter Museum welcomes visitors to southwestern Dallas County. Exhibits document President Harry S. Truman's visit to the National Plowing Match held in 1948, the former Dexfield Amusement Park and the site of Dallas County's Barrow gang shoot-out in 1933. Three historical markers north of town on Dexfield Road represent a significant record of these events. The museum has an abundance of historic information, plowing match scoreboards, pictures, artifacts and scrapbooks on display.

Dexter Centennial Park

Dexter's city park is located on the north side of White Pole Road just east of the fire station. Kids will enjoy the climbing tower, slides and merry-go-round, while adults can use the paved walking trail around the perimeter with 10 low-impact wellness exercise stations. Kids and adults can take advantage of the 9-hole disc golf course. A shelter house with picnic tables and restrooms await summer visitors. Be sure to check out the rustic bridge built in 1916 to span a creek near the cemetery. The bridge was moved to the city park where it has been located for many years.

Iowa Veterans Cemetery

34024 Veterans Memorial Drive, Van Meter

515-996-9048 | va.iowa.gov/cemetery

The Iowa Veterans Cemetery is the only state-owned and operated veterans cemetery in the State of Iowa. The construction was federally funded. It opened in 2008 and has more than 100 acres of property and the capacity for more than 81,000 veterans and family members. The cemetery serves Iowa's veteran population, as well as veterans from other states. There is no state residency requirement to be interred in the cemetery. It is available to families and visitors from 7:30 a.m. to sunset daily, dependent on weather conditions. The building on site was built for American Legion Post No. 403 with a focus on providing a free venue for families of veterans before or after committal services at the Iowa Veterans Cemetery. This facility is also available for use by the public.

Perry Welcome Depot

First and Willis Ave., Perry | 515-465-4601

The former railroad depot was renovated by the Perry Area Chamber of Commerce as a Welcome Center and displays railroad memorabilia from its history of the M&SL rail lines that passed through Perry. It provides area residents and visitors with information about Perry and area attractions, as well as an indoor restroom right off the bike trail. The Welcome Depot is adjacent to the Raccoon River Valley Trail located on the corner of First and Willis Avenue. Willis Avenue features four sculptures that pay tribute to the railroad, agriculture, industry and the arts.

The Redfield Historical Museum

814 First St., Redfield | <https://redfieldchamber.org>

Opened in 2014, the Redfield Historical Museum displays items from long ago up to not so long ago. It has a large collection of school composite photos from the 1920s to the 1990s and many other photos.

Soumas Court

1112 Willis Ave., Perry | 515-465-2481 or 515-465-9941

Soumas Court is cradled between the Hotel Pattee and the Town/Craft Center. The court is named after George Soumas, son of Greek immigrants, WWII hero, a leading citizen and former mayor. A life-sized bronze sculpture of Soumas was created by Iowa artist Chris Bennett and serves as a focal point for this serene central parkway. Visitors entering Soumas Court pass through the gateways of New York's grand metal sculptures created by Albert Paley, the Reconfiguration Arches. The arches are an interpretation of Perry's history made of farm equipment, mining tools, railroad items and metal pieces that recall the stories of men and women whose labors built Perry and kept it thriving.

Wiese Park and Disc Golf Course

1800 Pattee St., Perry | 515-465-5621

Wiese Park is adjacent to the McCreary Community Building. It features a shelter house, gazebo, playground equipment, sand volleyball court, soccer fields and a lighted 2-mile recreation trail. You can also play a round of disc golf on a 9-hole course. The course is open seven days a week at no charge. Maps, scorecards and golf discs are available inside the McCreary Community Center.

Granger Homesteads

Highway 141, Granger

In 1935, the Granger Homesteads became one of the first government housing projects in U.S. history. The project was intended for those who lived in company-owned coal mining camp slums in the area so that families could move away from the decrepit mining camps and nearer to wholesome churches and schools. This building project of 50 homes on 224 acres was completed in conjunction with the Roosevelt Administration, the National Recovery Act, Eleanor Roosevelt and local Since 1958, Jester Park, with 1,834 acres, has been one of central Iowa's favorite outdoor playgrounds. No other location in central Iowa offers such a variety in outdoor recreation opportunities such as camping, hiking, snowmobiling, horseback riding, picnicking and golfing. More than 250 campsites are available along the lakeshore and among wooded hills. There are five picnic shelters within the park, a boat ramp, 8 miles of hiking trails, 5 miles of snowmobile trails and playgrounds and natural playscapes. At the end of a 3-mile-long park drive, you'll be rewarded with a vision of the wildlife that was abundant in Iowa more than 200 years ago. The bison and elk herds that live in the wildlife enclosures are always a popular attraction.

High Trestle Trail

www.dallascountyiowa.gov/330/High-Trestle-Trail

The High Trestle Trail is built on a former railroad bed, previously owned by Union Pacific Railroad. The 25-mile-long trail connects the communities of Ankeny, Sheldahl, Slater, Madrid and Woodward. Its 13-story, half mile-long bridge over the Des Moines River is one of the largest recreation trail bridges in the world. The original 1912 railroad trestle bridge was rebuilt in 1973 with the concrete piers that still stand. Art elements at the new bridge remind visitors of the area's coal-mining history while enjoying biking, hiking or running.

Woodward Hardware, Antiques and Toy Museum

123 S. Main St., Woodward | 515-371-9364

The storefront was created as a general grocery store in the early 1900s and turned into a hardware store in the late 1940s. Today it continues to serve as a hardware store for the locals. As you walk in, you'll see the history of the antique hand tools, machines, benches and parts from the early 19th century. There is also a hidden treasure in the attic of antique toys, games and rides that will take you back to your childhood and the fun you had playing as a child. Call for appointments.

Voas Nature Area is a 705-acre park with diverse habitat, including oak and hickory forest, prairies and wetlands. The park has two hunting areas, one for youth only and the other for general public hunting. The habitats create an excellent stage for learning about our natural world. Interpretive programs include tours of the geology museum, bird watching hikes, prairie programs, and cross-country skiing. Modern restrooms are available seasonally. Museum is open by appointment only.

Middle / South Raccoon River Water Trail

Map available online at www.dallascountyiowa.gov/332/Middle-South-Raccoon-River-Water-Trail

The Middle/South Raccoon River Water Trail starts as two water trails that join midway below Redfield. Paddlers can start their float as far upstream in Guthrie County as Lenon Mill Park in Panora on the Middle Raccoon River — just over 17 miles to confluence. This route includes a lowhead dam at Redfield that must be portaged around.

Nation's Bridge Park near Stuart is on the South Raccoon River — just over 15 miles to confluence.

After the two rivers join, the trail continues approximately 19 additional miles to the confluence with the North Raccoon River near Van Meter.

There are five public access areas along this water trail in Dallas County, two of which are managed by the Dallas County Conservation Board.

The Redfield Dam Access is located on the Middle Raccoon River, just upstream from where the two rivers join. The access is below the low-head dam and has a large parking area and concrete boat ramp.

The South Raccoon River Access is located south of Redfield, just off of F-60 before the confluence. This access area is small and users must carry their watercraft down a gravel pad.

The Pleasant Valley Wildlife Area is managed by the Iowa Department of Natural Resources. It is located south of F-60 at the end of Indian Trail. It includes a paved boat ramp and maintained parking area.

The Earlham Bridge Access is on the southwest side of the P58 Bridge.

The Two Rivers Access is located in Van Meter at the end of this water trail.

North Raccoon River Water Trail

Map at www.dallascountyiowa.gov/333/North-Raccoon-River-Water-Trail

The North Raccoon River Water Trail enables recreational paddlers to enjoy the North Raccoon River from Vogel Access in northern Sac County to the junction with the Des Moines River in Polk County, a distance of about 180 river miles.

Dallas County Conservation manages four of the nine public access areas along the North Raccoon River in Dallas County. All public accesses have a concrete boat ramp with the name of the access and the distance to the next access, including signs that point out any nearby amenities. To aid in navigation, each bridge over the North Raccoon River has visible signage on the upstream side of the bridge naming the road the paddler is passing under with the distance to the next access.

The furthest upstream access in Dallas County is the Dawson Boat Ramp. The Dawson Boat Ramp is located 1 mile north of Dawson along the east side of County Road P46.

About 6 miles downstream is the Perry Boat Ramp located on the north side of the Highway 141 bridge at the west edge of Perry.

The next stop is Spring Valley Access 4.5 miles down the river located at the east side of County Road P58.

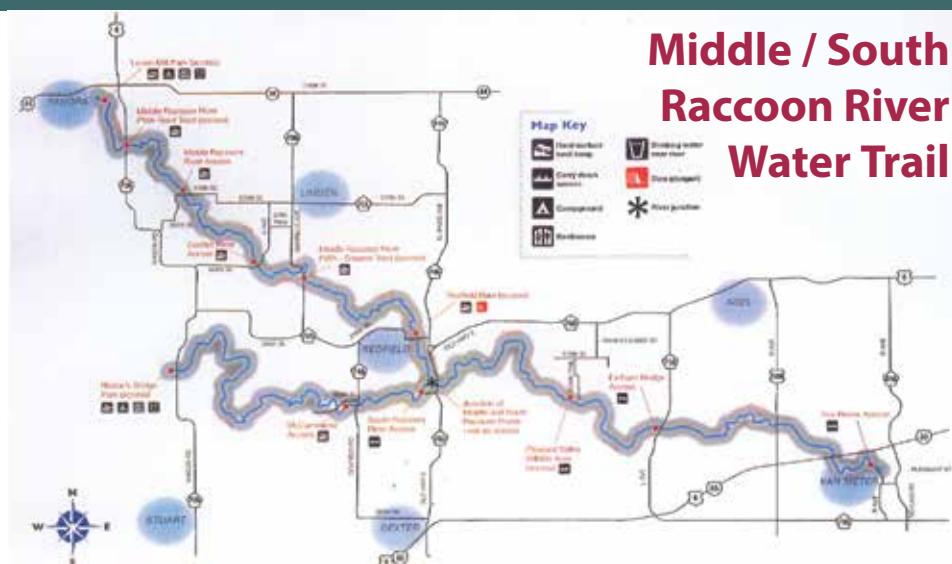

Another 5.6 miles takes you to Snyder Access which is on the south side of County Road F31 west of Minburn.

Highway 44 Access is found 4.8 miles downstream.

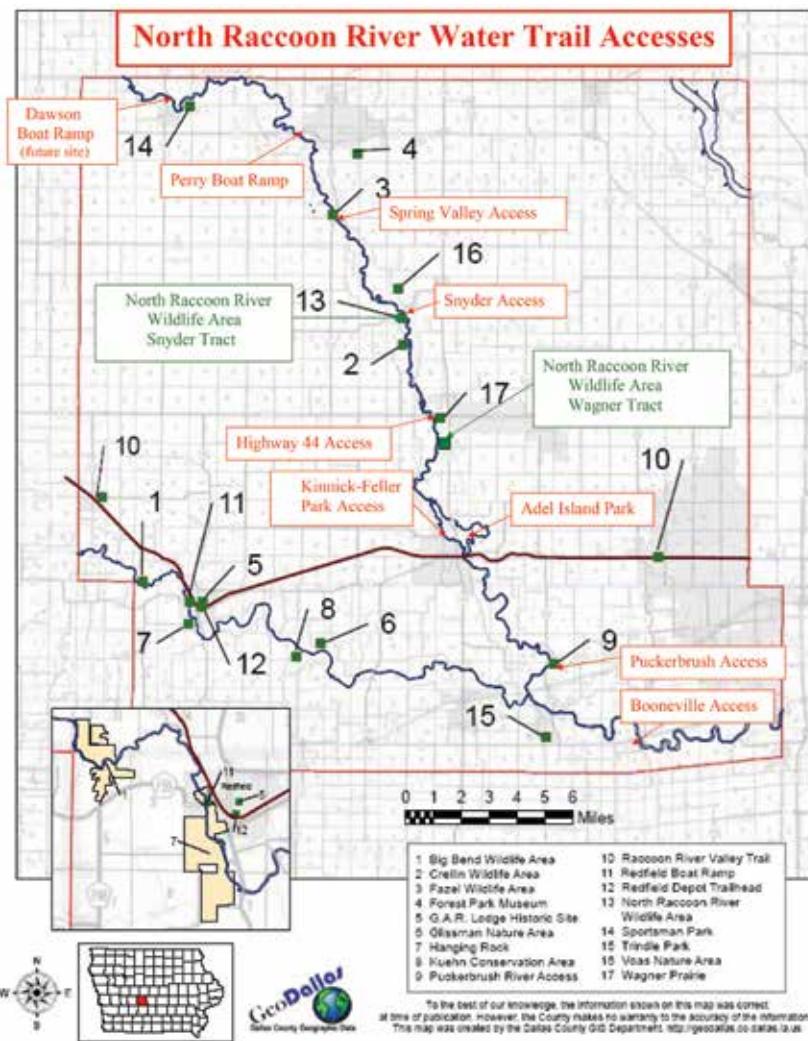

The next access is the Kinnick-Feller Park Access which is 6.4 miles downstream.

Downstream 0.7 mile is Adel Island Park. Both Kinnick-Feller Park Access and Adel Island Park are found at the north edge of Adel. This route includes a lowhead dam that must be portaged around.

Traveling 7.5 miles downstream from Adel Island Park brings you to Puckerbrush Access. This access is located on the west side of County Road R16 about 2 miles north of Van Meter. Booneville Access is the last access in Dallas County and is another 8.1 miles downstream. ■

www.adelpartners.org | www.adeliowa.org

With a small-town vibe and proximity to Des Moines' metro, Adel is a vibrant, charming and thriving place to live, work and play. Recreation opportunities abound at city parks, the Dallas County Fairgrounds, the Raccoon River and the Raccoon River Valley Trail. Adel offers a great mix of culture and history, is the birthplace of Nile Kinnick, is the Dallas County seat and features a long-standing brickyard, brick structures and brick streets. Events are happening all year round: the iconic Sweet Corn Festival in August, Adel Hay Day in October, and Hometown Holiday in December. Come and see for yourself why Adel is not just a place to visit, it's a place to thrive.

DALLAS CENTER

www.dallascenter.com

“Quietly Progressive” is Dallas Center’s city motto. The town was founded more than 125 years ago and has grown to almost 2,000 people. It is located about 20 miles northwest of Des Moines. The residents love and respect the past and are gently moving forward with plans to keep the city infrastructure sound while incorporating new ideas. The spiritual community is a comfort and collaboration of several churches and denominations that work together to make themselves better characters and provide support to those in need. Residents love the small-town style with all the seasonal activities that make it feel like part of the Heartland.

DAWSON

Dawson offers a boat ramp at the North Raccoon River, a well-maintained city park, a fun play park and an updated community center. The restored depot welcomes those using the Raccoon River Valley Trail to town.

Dawson is only about 1 mile from Sportsman Park.

DE SOTO

<https://desoto-ia.org>

De Soto is located at the intersection of Interstate 80 and Highway 169, just 15 miles from West Des Moines at exit 110. It is a wonderful community for families both large and small with an easy commute to work and entertainment in the greater Des Moines area.

DEXTER

www.dexteria.org

Dexter, the “Original One Horse Town,” is one of the oldest towns in Dallas County. Having been platted in 1868, it celebrated its sesquicentennial in 2018. There is an amazing amount of history to explore as you begin the drive along the White Pole Road at I-80 exit 100. Travel west into town and stop at the Dexter Museum and Historic Roundhouse.

GRANGER

www.grangeriowa.org

Established in 1885, Granger’s history is rooted in agriculture, railroads, coal mines, circuses and the Granger Homesteads. Because of its location close to excellent recreational activities such as three golf courses, Jester Park and Saylorville Lake, there are ample opportunities for relaxing-to-vigorous activities for individuals of all ages.

GRIMES

www.grimesiowa.gov

Straddling the borders of Dallas and Polk counties, Grimes is a fast-growing community. As such, it has many destinations that make the community a great place to visit. Some of the many recreational opportunities include golfing, indoor rock climbing, camping, trampoline facilities, sports and fitness facilities and more.

LINDEN

www.linden.lib.ia.us/city-local-links

Located along the Raccoon River Valley, Linden has a well-maintained city park, community building, baseball field and shelter house. Water enthusiasts have two nearby access points to the Middle Raccoon River.

MINBURN

www.minburn.org

True to its motto, Minburn is the “Small Town With a Big Heart.” The town’s historic brick Railroad Depot was relocated and renovated into a trailhead for the Raccoon River Valley Trail. A park dedicated to honoring veterans is adjacent, and the Dallas County Freedom Rock is its focal point. Just west of Minburn is the Voas Nature Area, an excellent place to experience what the Minburn area landscape used to look like.

PERRY

www.perryia.org

Designated as one of Iowa's "Great Places," Perry boasts a combination of arts, history, culture, commerce and recreation, unmatched by any other of its size. Perry's walkable downtown is home to more than 30 buildings on the National Register of Historic Places and is a block away from Caboose Park, a trailhead connecting the Raccoon River Valley Trail and High Trestle Trail. Perry is home to multiple arts and cultural festivals, as well as several murals and public art pieces, including four sculptures along the Willis Avenue boulevard that pay tribute to Perry's historical ties to the railroad, agriculture, industry and the arts.

REDFIELD

<https://redfieldia.com>

Redfield, established in 1860, sits on the Middle Raccoon River, site of one of the few low-head dams remaining in Iowa. The fishing is popular and usually successful. The community boasts a rare Grand Army of the Republic Post with a military museum, the Redfield Historical Museum, the Raccoon River Valley Bike Trail and Depot, a fine library and city park and Hanging Rock Park on the Raccoon River.

VAN METER

www.vanmeteria.gov

A picturesque community situated near the Raccoon River, Van Meter prides itself on its quality of life and services provided by local foundations, volunteers and boards. It is home to the Iowa Veterans Cemetery.

WAUKEE

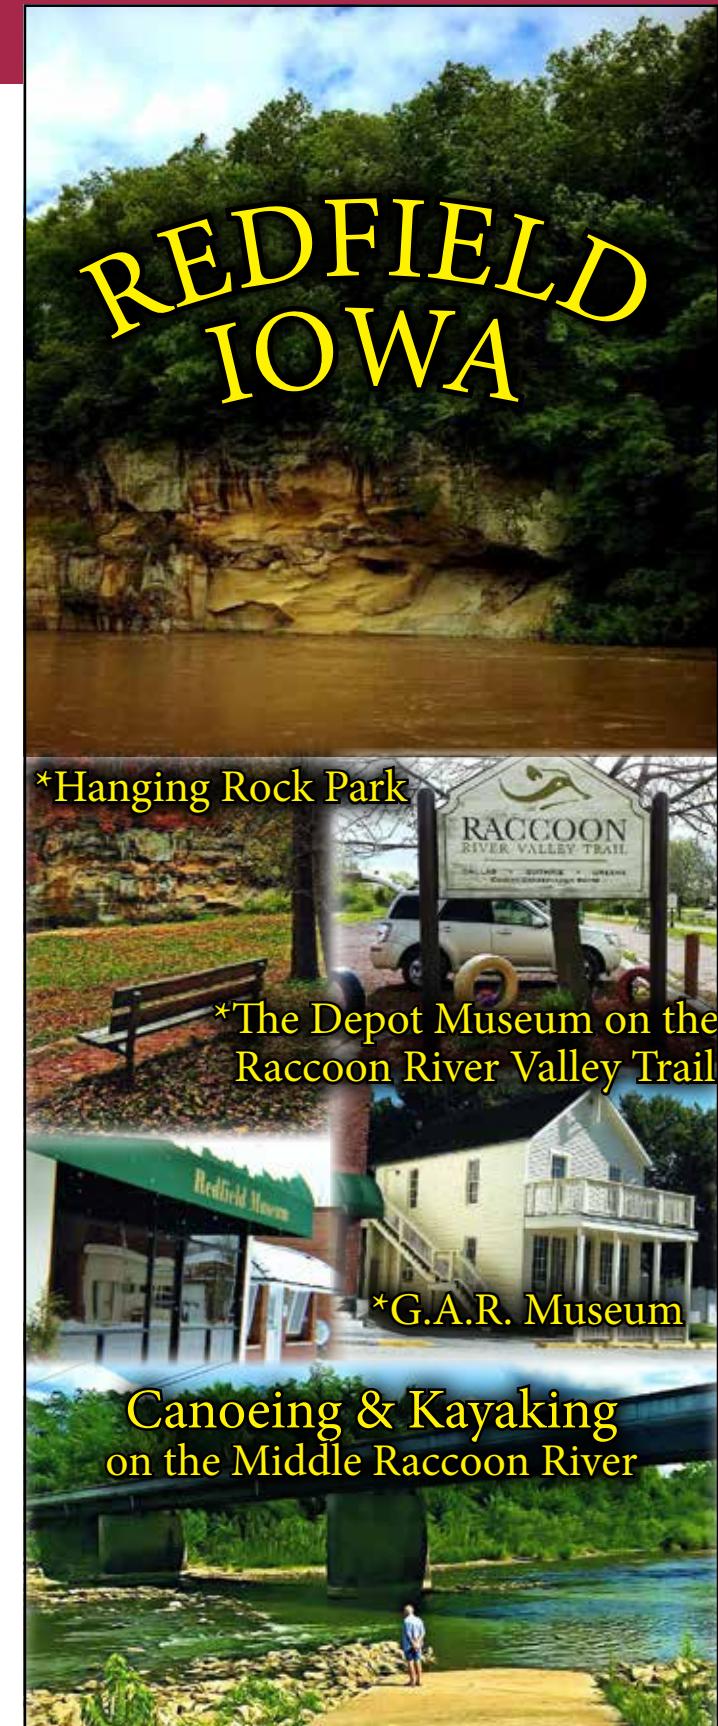

www.waukee.org

The city of Waukee is recognized as one of the fastest growing cities in Iowa. Waukee offers a family-friendly environment featuring quality parks, schools and trails. Triumph Park, with its accessible features, includes Miracle League fields, an accessible fishing pier, and accessible play equipment. The city features numerous entertainment, shopping and dining opportunities.

WOODWARD

www.woodwardia.org

Woodward was established in 1883 as a railroad community. Today, that railroad line bed has become the High Trestle Trail, a recreational trail that crosses the Des Moines River Valley on the spectacular High Trestle Bridge located just east of Woodward. People come to enjoy the view and artwork of the bridge. The old depot has been restored as the western gateway to the High Trestle Trail and Woodward Trailhead. ■
