ALEXA, PLAY CLASSIC CHRISTMAS MUSIC

Christmas may be over, but the Christmas season continues. And, as such, you may still hear a few Christmas songs playing. That's fine with me, as long as it is classic Christmas music.

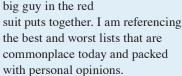

Alexa and I don't agree on this. When I ask Amazon's cloud-based voice service to "play Christmas classics," I expect to hear Bing Crosby, Gene Autry, Dean Martin or Frank Sinatra. Alexa gives me Wham, Mariah Carey, Michael Jackson and Kelly Clarkson.

Any Christmas music with a synthesizer is not classic. Period.

I am not sure why I am attracted to this golden era of Christmas music. It just feels, well, Christmassy. I certainly didn't grow up in that timeframe, and my parents didn't play any sort of Christmas music around the house. Meanwhile, Alexa is sending her misguided selection to more than 100 million devices. She should be imprisoned, or at least fined.

As a society, we seem to be obsessed with lists today, and not the naughty or nice ones that the big guy in the red

Opinions are like belly buttons (I am trying to stay on Santa's nice list), as we all have them. As such, in 2021, Rolling Stone magazine compiled the 20 Worst Christmas Songs of All Time. It includes New Kids on the Block with "Funky, Funky, Xmas," Justin Bieber's "Mistletoe," and 'NSync singing "I Never Knew the Meaning of Christmas." Topping their Worst list is Jessica Simpson, featuring Ashlee Simpson, with "The Little Drummer Boy." Rolling Stone nailed it.

It is not that I dislike all contemporary Christmas music. Some artists of today can make it work. Michael Bublé is amazing. And then there is... did I mention Michael Bublé? I am joking. Harry Connick, Jr. is special, too. But the list does pretty much stop there.

OK, I am showing my bias. Give me Elvis and "Blue Christmas." Play "It's Beginning to Look A Lot Like Christmas" by Perry Como. Drop the needle on the record of "The Christmas Song" by Nat King Cole. They all make me smile and sing along.

"Santa Tell Me" by Ariana Grande? Alexa, "STOP!"

Have a great week, and thanks for reading. ■

RECIPE

A SWEET, MELTY HOLIDAY SANDWICH

(Family Features) All that holiday hustle and bustle can work up some real hunger. Between decorating, baking and preparing for entertaining, hosts often earn an afternoon snack.

When you and your loved ones need a boost of energy before guests arrive, turn to a fresh ingredient like Envy apples, which provide an easy way to whip up a delicious sandwich due to their sweet taste and availability. The sweet, sophisticated flavor; uplifting, fresh aroma; delightfully satisfying crunch; beautiful appearance; and naturally white flesh all lend themselves to this Apple Cranberry Havarti Melt. As a quick, simple way to reenergize before the big party, it's a perfect snack the whole family can enjoy together.

APPLE CRANBERRY HAVARTI MELT

Servings: 4

- 2 tablespoons melted butter
- · 8 oat-wheat bread slices
- 1/2 cup cranberry sauce
- 12 ounces Havarti cheese
- · 2 Envy apples

Directions

Preheat oven to 450 F.

Lightly butter one side of each bread slice and place on baking sheet butter side down. On side without butter, spread cranberry sauce on half of bread slices.

Slice Havarti cheese about 1/4-inch thick and place over cranberry layer. Thinly slice apples and layer over cheese. Top with remaining bread slices with butter side up.

Bake 5 minutes then carefully flip each sandwich. Bake 3-5 minutes until cheese is melty.
