

PROJECT CASE STUDY

COMMERCIAL PROPERTY

LOCATION: THE COLORADO — NEW YORK, NY

Constructed in 1987, The Colorado stands as a 35-story luxurious apartment building in Yorkville, NY. Built in one of the most affluent communities in Manhattan, its beige and dark brown brick facade, two-story limestone base and numerous corner windows are some of its defining features. Its pristine location on the Upper East Side, only one block from the Lexington Avenue subway; along with its remarkable architectural layout and interior design make it one of the most sought after rental buildings in Manhattan.

With 256 residences that boast hardwood floors, granite countertops and exceptional views of Central Park and/or the East River, The Colorado also features a garden and landscaped roof deck. Fontrick was honored to be a part of the renovation of The Colorado, supplying paint grade and stain grade interior doors throughout the entire building.
