Missionary Guidelines

Purpose: These general guidelines are provided for the orderly administration of the different functions of the missionary and their responsibility before the Lord and the Ministry.

- It is necessary that the missionary have a submissive spirit to all authorities that God places in their life in the ministry, including Ministry Leaders, and Pastors they are working under.
(Romans 13)
- When the missionary needs to take time off from their Missionary Duties, they should inform their Leader(s) with at least a month of anticipation, in order to assure there is a replacement for the time they will be out. A Ministry Time-Off Form will be filled out.
- Missionaries are responsible for their own support and are not permitted to request funds or other support from Pastors, Missions teams, or other persons coming to assist the ministry on a mission's project or from other Churches already supporting the Ministry Work. It is seen as a lack of ministry etiquette to do so.
- The missionary should send out an update monthly and a mission's newsletter every 2 months to share testimonies and to inform his/her supporters of what God is doing on the mission field. Before the newsletter is sent out, a copy of it should be emailed to the ministry office for approval. E-mail all newsletters to marchhs@juno.com or through a Facebook Message.
- The Missionary will give a good testimony to all people working with them and the people they serve.
- The missionary will pay his/her monthly tithe to United In Christ Ministry

With my signature I testify that I have read all the Missionary Guidelines of United In Christ Ministry, Worldwide, Inc. and that I will follow them. Failure to comply with them may result of a Disciplinary Action up to the termination of my Missionary Work under the ministry.
