Schwab School for sale again

Purchase plan proposed to Weatherly council

by Ruth Isenberg

At the workshop meeting scheduled for Wednesday, May 11, Weatherly Borough Council members were expected to consider a proposal regarding a community landmark, the Schwab School. This imposing structure, shown below, is once again on the market, and some members of the community would like to see it preserved in the borough's hands.

According to borough Mayor Tom Connors, the idea

may be voted on at the regular council meeting on Monday, May 16 at 7 p.m. in the borough building. If council agrees to the idea of holding title to the building, community fundraising efforts will get underway, and negotiations will as well with the bank that now owns the structure.

The borough was offered the property after the Weatherly Area School District closed it in 1991, but turned it down. A community group

White Haven Main Street demolition question remains

by Ruth Isenberg

Continued concern about the effect the demolition of the Judith Mertz property in the 200 Main Street has had on their neighboring property brought Joe and Debbie Lachette to the borough council meeting on April 25. The couple reviewed the steps that have taken place over the year and a half since the building was condemned by the borough.

One of the guidelines put out by the borough planning commission was that the adjacent

Higher speeds need better roads

by Seth Isenberg

Driving east through Monroe County on Mother's Day, in the 55 mile per hour zone, Ruth and I found ourselves in the midst of an Penn State student exodus. We were driving faster than the speed limit, but the sheer number of cars that passed us going 80 or faster was stunning. Cars that were going at 55 miles per hour would cause a hazard.

It's clearly a good thing to have the speed limits raised. It would be an even better thing for PennDOT to get on with adding a lane in each direction on Interstate 80 at least from Route 380 to New Jersey, though having an extra lane as far as the Turnpike would make things safer.

It was a surprise to see speed limits go up. We're often in packs of vehicles that are driving 70 or greater, though on Sunday, given the hurry of the students, 70 felt slow, even in the 55 mile an hour zone.

With next year being another boost in the Pennsylvania gasoline tax, our area is overdue to see major roadwork—with Interstate 80, our economic lifeline, needing to be at the top of the list. The long climb out of Blakeslee toward the Turnpike on the westbound side really needs an extra lane.

Veterans Corner

by John Kearns

During a recent event commemorating Victory Europe Day (VE Day), there was a lively discussion about WWII. I was then confronted with the question, "Why did people not fight back, especially the Jews?" It got worse until eventually, I was told the Holocaust was made up... never happened. I listened intently before drawing the conclusion that our failing education system is to blame for the ignorance that befalls some of our younger generation. Seeking an answer, I asked myself "Why did so many not fight back when faced with death and slavery?" I knew the answer - they did fight back whole-heartedly.

As a nation, we are teaching our youth simplicity and convenience, not reality and truth. I could not convince the young man and his friends (college students) of the truth. Either prejudice or a false narrative of reality got to them and there was no turning back, to them, the Jews in WWII will always be less.

Professor Itzchak Tessler asked nearly the same question about how over 250,000 Jewish soldiers were killed while fighting for Allies' armies, and 36,000 received awards of Valor from US Army, plus 160,000 were awarded bravery citations from Red Army. How did 1.5 million Jews who fought and died in World War II sink into oblivion?

U.S. history books only recognize the Jewish Infantry Brigade Group (known as the Jewish Brigade) who served in Europe during World War II. It was a military formation of the British Army composed of Jews from the Yishuv (in the area that became Israel), and commanded by British-Jewish officers. This brigade was formed in late 1944 and fought the Germans in Italy.

But world history records it differently: a million and a half Jews fought as part of the Allies' armies against the Nazis and the Axis allies.

Those in cities were disarmed before the Nazi selections began and its true purpose known. They stood unarmed, guarded by armed thugs and were instantly killed for any sign they may fight back. Looking at a guard's rifle, too much interest in a fence or gate was a death sentence. Elsewhere, they fought back like lions in every Allied military that would accept them.

During that time prejudice prevailed - recently, the U.S. Department of Defense undertook a review of Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and Airmen who received medals of lesser degree than the Medal of Honor to determine if they did not receive the Medal of Honor because of their Jewish, Hispanic or African heritage. The results were shocking.

Fighting back was not restricted to men, thousands of Jewish women were killed as assassins and snipers, and equal numbers fought on battlefields side-by-side with their male counterparts. The film "Blessed is the Match" tells of the bravery in battle of Jewish women. One such was Hannah Szenes, a Special Operations paratrooper. She was one of 37 Jews parachuted by the British Army into Yugoslavia during the Second World War to rescue Hungarian Jews about to be deported to the German death camp at Auschwitz.

American history books have also left out the 200,000 fallen Jewish soldiers in Red Army, who were listed as Russian - due to Stalin's pride and Russian prejudices on having only Russians in his military service. The generals seeing the need and value of this group on their side, simply called them Russian and enlisted them.

For anyone to think of the Jewish people as not willing to fight, look to recent history. In five recent wars, Israel, a nation of 5 million Jews, stood against multiple invading nations of Arabs numbering 1.5 billion and won every time.

The Holocaust did occur. Arabs' hatred and American Left Wing liberal politicians cannot take that away by removing it from our history books and classrooms.

Now, the history of our courageous Vietnam and Korean War veterans is being diminished or outright removed from our history books, so that, like the Holocaust's history, we spare our youth "the hard lessons of life." These youths have become the same young college students who are traumatized by a man's name written on a sidewalk.

History is the best teacher. Hitler, Stalin and others tried to suppress it and make up their own versions. When the history of a nation is denied by a government (Not its Educators), it is for a reason. It is that same reason guns are denied to citizens and the outcome of either is never good for the nation, or its people. We the people have the most freedom and rights of any nation in the world because no government, foreign or domestic, can deny us our rights of knowledge and the right to defend ourselves and our nation's way of life. When we get to the point where our government controls both our minds and our guns, that's how another Holocaust begins.

Police Beat

State Police from Hazleton report that they found a black Sentry safe dropped by the roadside on Buck Mountain Road, about a mile from the entrance to Eckley Miner's Village, at about 6 p.m. on 5-2.

Contact PSP-H at 570 459-3890 if you have information regarding the owner.

On 5-9, PSP assisted Carbon County Children and Youth workers while they conducted a welfare check on a minor child at a Tresck-ow home. The team was concerned about possible illegal drug use and even drug dealing at the home. Arriving just before 4 p.m., they met with a 27 y/o man there - and found him in possession of cocaine, Suboxone (treats opiate addiction) and some unidentified pills for which he had no prescription - plus a large amount of cash. He was arrested, and police took him to be arraigned, then took him to the Carbon County jail. The child went with C&W workers.

cent building (the Lachette's) should be closed and made weather-tight, something that has not happened.

Borough manager Linda Szoke explained that the original contractor on the demolition project had agreed to the condition, but that Mertz changed contractors. The second contractor completed the demolition, but did nothing with the adjacent structure. Mertz paid the fines that were levied by the district justice.

Atty. Sean Logsdon said the borough had no further recourse at the magistrate's level, and the matter would have to be decided in Commonwealth Court as a civil suit. The Lachettes indicated that they had retained an attorney for that purpose.

then sought purchasers for the property, and it ended up in the hands of Laurence Halstead III from Arlington Virginia in 1997. He had proposed developing it as senior housing, then attempted to sell it, at one point listing it on-line as a "mansion."

While not a mansion, the building does have rich roots. It was donated to the town by industrialist Charles M.

Marian HS May Crowning

Students, faculty, administrators, and parents at Marian Catholic High School, Hometown, continued a long-standing tradition of honoring Mary, the Blessed Virgin Mother, during the school's annual May Procession observance on May 2.

The event took place during the morning Mass that preceded classes followed by the crowning of the Blessed Mother by Molly Carnish, daughter of James & Cathy Carnish, Tamaqua, who had been selected to the school's May Queen.

Members of her court were: Danielle Spillman, daughter of Michael & Patricia Spillman, Jim Thorpe; Melissa Ramirez, daughter of Ignacia Ramirez, Lost Creek; Deaynna Koskulitz, daughter of Bernard Koskulitz and Jamie Koskulitz, Hazle Township. Escorts were: Tyler Wackley, son Carol Wackley, Schuylkill Haven; Jack Hurst, son of John & Debbi Hurst, Barnesville; Henry Hinchey, son of William & Maureen Hinchey, Slatington; Ryan Kelly, son of Tim & Pam Kelly, Weatherly.

The Catholic high school has held this annual tribute since it was founded in 1954, a year that was dedicated to the Blessed Mother and called "The Marian Year." It was then that Archbishop John F. O'Hara decided to combine three existing schools (St. Jerome, Tamaqua; St. Mary's, Coaldale; and St. Ann's, Lansford) into one diocesan high school. The new central high school was and still is staffed by the Sisters, Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary. Sister Bernard Agnes of that order currently serves as school principal. The Rev. Robert T. Finlan celebrated the Mass.

Night with the Nurses

The May Night with the Nurses program at Heritage Hill will be held on May 26 starting at 6:30 p.m. The guest speaker will be Dr. John Shalanski, Licensed Clinical Social Worker. His presentation will be on Mindfulness: Living and Enjoying the Present Moment.

Light refreshments will be served. Please RSVP to Jody or Michelle at 570-427-4500.

Unbaked Pizza sale

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 360 of Weatherly will hold an unbaked pizza sale Memorial Day weekend. Pizza pick-up will be between 4 and 6 p.m. on May 27. Pre-orders are appreciated, but walk-ins are welcome.

Regular pizza is $9 each with $1 extra charged for any of the additional toppings - extra cheese, 3-cheese, pepperoni, mushroom, or sausage.

Seth's Sightings by Seth Isenberg

As we left the WBS Penguins game on Saturday when it ended after about 9:30 p.m., I saw a running deer sprint along the grass at the edge of the parking lot and pointed it out to Ruth. It stopped briefly in a grassy area not far from us, somewhat cowed by the line of vehicles in front of it. It then ran past one of the men directing traffic, and ran parallel to the line of slow-moving cars until it reached a point where it found an opening it could safely run through. I could see then that traffic coming out of the lot had stopped for it. The deer fled off into the wooded area overlooking the arena, safe for the moment.

The WBS Penguins lost that Saturday game, but came back with a hard-fought overtime win on Monday night. They've tied the Hershey Bears (whose fans did travel to cheer their guys on — enjoying a loud celebration on Saturday). The Bears fans were quiet on Monday after the winning goal, but now the locals have to win at the Giant Center if we're to see them move to the next round of the Calder Cup playoffs. There's a home game back here on the 13th. Future games depend on the Penguins winning two of these last three contests.

Driving into New Jersey, we saw that east of Stroudsburg was where forests look to be more green. Full leaf in our area isn't going to happen for another week or two — perhaps as late as Memorial Day weekend if the nights stay cool — below 50°. As far to the east as Budd Lake where my uncle lives, the trees were still not completely in foliage. So, foliage will be late this year. We can only hope for a later turn of leaves this fall.

Saturday morning, I was out with the Rotary Club of Weatherly as part of their annual road cleanup, and did some tire removal from a small stream with was just out of sight of the road about midway between Weatherly and Beaver Meadows. It was not a surprise that I removed not only tires, but also ticks. There were more tires there — I'll need to organize a crew to get them out before mosquito season. The following day we took Chess out for a run in the Gamelands area south of White Haven. Again, it was no surprise to find a couple of ticks. I'm going to start spraying around my socks when we go into the woods, because it looks like a tick-full summer.

Other sightings included a hunting hawk that swept low across our vehicle as we traveled east on Route 80 on Sunday, and I sighted a couple of others small and large as I drove the area on Monday.

Not being big Yankees fans, Ruth and I tend to look to attend RailRiders games when the weather is perfect — nice warm summer nights for example — or when the Pawtucket Red Sox come to town. The PawSox were here this past week so we might have attended on Tuesday night, but the game was a 10:30 a.m. day game. Had we gone, we would have come home happy, too, as the PawSox shut out the locals, adding icing on the win with two runs in the 9th. We continue to cheer the big Penguins in the NHL playoffs, and now are following the Wheeling Penguins affiliate's playoffs efforts, too. Auto racing at Pocono Raceway is three weeks away. Get your tickets now. We will attend the Friday ARCA race, Saturday's Xfinity race, and Sunday's Sprint Cup as well.

I am counting the days towards the Olympics in Rio. The event will hopefully go off with no serious problems. Brazil right now is in a political tizzy, so the Olympics could be a welcome distraction from the political mess there. Of course, there's also the chance that everyone will be competing at record-setting speeds, just to stay ahead of any mosquitoes.

We are planning to picnic at Knoebels on the 14th, WVIA day, and hope to see many WVIA supporters from our area there. On the evening of the 21st, we hope to head into Allentown to the PPL Center to go cheer the SteelHawks on towards their indoor football league playoffs. In between, we have a full plate of newspaper work, which is not a bad thing, only a busy one.

WAHS Alumni Association meeting

The Weatherly Area High School Alumni Association board of directors met March 17 in the Weatherly Area Middle School large group instruction room with 11 members in attendance.

Todd Gimbi, president, called the meeting to order.

A moment of silence was held in remembrance of Lois Holman and Bernard Simkovich.

Minutes from the January meeting were read by Yvonne Felker and approved.

The treasurer's report was also reviewed and approved.

The $40,000 has been invested with ING.

The finance committee is still looking for another member. If interested, contact Gimbi.

There are currently 616 paid members in the association.

The Memorial Day dinner will be held on May 30. Tickets cost $13 each and the menu will be the same as previous years. After Easter, Felker will be scheduling a Memorial Day dinner committee meeting. The banners should be ready to go up on the bridge by April 15.

Bette Rambaran, chairwoman of the scholarship committee, prepared a report stating that the scholarship article appeared in the Standard-Speaker in February and she is currently working on scheduling dates for this year's scholarship application evaluation.

A thank you note was received from Barbara Sipler, Title I coordinator at the Weatherly Area Elementary School, for the donation toward Read Across America book purchases in the school.

After adjourning, those present enjoyed refreshments provided by Jane Suitch.

The next board of directors meeting will be held in the social room of the First Presbyterian Church, Spring Street, Weatherly, on June 16 at 7 p.m.

Wotherspoon makes the most of his debut with RailRiders

Ask anyone close to me, and they'll tell you I've been talking about hitting the "big one" in the Pennsylvania Lottery for years now. With each passing jackpot, however, I keep punching my time card at work, putting off retirement another week.

That said, it's obvious I have no psychic powers, at least when it comes to predicting a string of numbers that could make me a millionaire. After the events of last Tuesday, I'm starting to wonder if I do have some kind of talent at foreseeing future events. In this very column, I wrote that Crestwood graduate and New York Yankees farmhand Matt Wotherspoon was doing so well, a call-up to the club's Triple-A team before the end of the summer seemed very possible. Less than 12 hours after penning that piece, Wotherspoon's dream came true.

On Tuesday night, he was called into Trenton Thunder manager Bobby Mitchell's office, who let him know he'd be joining the Scranton/Wilkes-Barre RailRiders on the very next day. The news blew away the former Comets and University of Pittsburgh pitching standout.

"I was very surprised," he said. "It's tough to put into words. My dream was always to come back and play in front of the people I grew up with. I have been fortunate with the people I grew up with - they have always come see me play no matter where I was. To be so close for the time being, I really can't put it into words."

It's not that the promotion wasn't deserved. After all, the hard-throwing right-hander was 1-0 with one save and a 1.06 ERA in 17 relief innings this spring at Double-A Trenton. He had struck out 21 batters, walked just six, and held opposing hitters to a .089 batting average. That it happened so soon in the 2016

On The Sly

by Steve Stallone, Sports Editor

season was. But when the RailRiders placed Vinnie Pestano on the disabled list, they needed another reliever to fill the roster space.

"I have been throwing the ball well down here," he said of his first month with the Thunder.

Prior to arriving back home in Northeastern Pennsylvania, Wotherspoon had to make a quick stop in Buffalo for last Wednesday's game with the Bison, and then to the Lehigh Valley, where the RailRiders had a two-game series with the IronPigs. It was in Allentown where he made his Triple-A debut last Thursday, and what a debut it was. He was called on to relieve starter Richard Bleier in the eighth, and proceeded to throw two no-hit innings with a pair of strikeouts to help nail down the RailRiders' 10-1 victory over the IronPigs. "I'm just trying to do my thing out there," noted Wotherspoon, who threw 19 of his 29 pitches for strikes. "I'm just trying to pound the strike zone. That's kind of what I'm trying to do out there is stay aggressive with the fastball and force some early contact.

"No matter what level I'm pitching at, I'm going to try to do what works for me."

On Saturday Wotherspoon finally returned "home" to Northeastern Pennsylvania, when the RailRiders began a nine-game home stand. One day later, with his mother Teresa and dozens of family and friends in the stands on Mother's Day, he made his debut at PNC Field against Rochester. "I'll admit it, (Sunday) was the most jittery I've been before the game in a long time," he said. "A lot of family and friends were here and my mother was here, as well. She was definitely thrilled after the game."

Wotherspoon came on in relief of starter Luis Cessa in the sixth inning with the RailRiders trailing by a run. After his first three offerings to Will Venable were balls, he battled back to strike him out with a 93 mph fastball to end the inning. From there he settled in and retired the next five batters he faced before giving up a two-out single to Tommy Joseph in the eighth. He got Brock Stassi to fly out to center to end the inning before coming back out to start the ninth and freezing fanning J.P. Arencibia with another fastball. That marked the end of his day, one in which he threw 32 pitches - 20 for strikes.

With nearly five innings of scoreless baseball, in which he has surrendered just one hit and struck out five, Wotherspoon is well on his way to a successful start to his Triple-A career. "I feel like I'm throwing the baseball well," he told the media on Sunday. "I'm locating my fastball, I'm throwing my offspeed pitches for strikes. I'm just trying to keep it simple out there, honestly."

Simply stated, he's been near perfect.

Coach Moulton placed first

Crestwood's assistant boys track and field coach Robert Moulton did a little running of his own late last month. Competing in the Lehigh Valley Health Network 5K Run at Hazle Township Community Park, Moulton not only placed first overall, he set a new course record with a time of 16:24. This year's event attracted 262 people. Whitney Heydenreich was the first woman to cross the line in 20:02.

Football coaches seminar slated June 5

Wreckers, Lady Wreckers chalk up victories

In between raindrops over the past week, the Weatherly Area baseball team split a pair of games while the Lady Wrecker softball team won its only contest.

Baseball

Weatherly Area 11, MMI 0

Luke Figas fired a one-hitter and his teammates supported him with eight runs in the first two innings en route to the shutout victory last week. The senior righthander struck out three and walked three in the complete-game win.

Lou Mastroddi paced the Wrecker offense with a double, two singles and five RBI. Steph Yurchak added a double and single, Kyle Osifat, AJ Knepper, Dillon Bizarre and Kevin Osifat each had two singles and Jeremy Moser, Zach Moon and Gary Buck all had a base hit. George Palermo's single accounted for the Preppers' only hit.

Shenandoah Valley 2, Weatherly Area 1

Matt Creasy's infield single with the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh inning lifted the Blue Devils to a Schuylkill League Division III win against the Wreckers on Monday. Winning pitcher Ian McCole doubled to start the uprising. After a strikeout and two intentional walks to load the bases, Creasy lined a pitch off Jeremy Moser's leg and beat out the play for a hit, bringing home McCole with the game-winner.

McCole scattered four hits and struck out 13 in getting the complete-game win. Moser was equally effective, holding the Blue Devils to six hits in seven innings. The young Wreckers dipped to 5-11 on the season.

The Comets rallied with a run in the home fourth, three more in the fifth and one in the seventh, but Colin Stauffer slammed the door there to earn the save and preserve the victory for winning pitcher Scott Shamany.
