Rigged

by Seth Isenberg

This week saw the end of the primary election season. Throughout this primary season we've been hearing how Republican nominee Donald Trump and his supporters have been complaining about rules in the various states that made establishment types more powerful than regular voters. This week it was clear as day that the Democrats primary system is even worse.

Superdelegates are the established and powerful Democrats who go to the convention no matter the primary voters say. Looking at the process, you can see where both party systems are rigged.

The popular vote should carry the most weight. The people who are elected already have become entitled, and it isn't a good thing. It's clear that a large number of voters of both parties aren't keen on any of the candidates this year's process has produced. On the Democrat side, it's not just Bernie Sanders supporters opposed to Hillary Clinton. On the Republican side, there are legions unhappy about Donald Trump. Yet, here we are. This is going to be a very active campaign, probably one we've never seen the likes of. It all comes back to the rules. It's time to look at new ways to nominate presidential candidates.

From The Weatherly Herald, June 7, 1977

The Greater Weatherly Ambulance Association's drive for a fully-equipped modern ambulance becomes reality next week with the delivery of a new Dodge-Horton bought for $16,250. The money came from drives by the GWAA and the Weatherly Area Homecoming Association. Financial reports show that 2,059 residents contributed $3 for the year—and some gave more, to raise $7,800 towards ambulance operations.

The Carbon County Recreation Department is offering a beginners class in belly dancing on Mondays, and an advance class on Thursdays. Children ages 5 to 7 can learn baton twirling Monday afternoon, and an intermediate class for ages 7 on up will be held Thursday afternoons. Classes will be held at the Jim Thorpe "Y".

Investment of the proceeds of the sale of the Carbon County Home property in Laurytown to Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. is earning 7.25% in CDs held at the Lehigh branch of the Cement National Bank, located at the Carbon Shopping Plaza there.

Double H Stables in west Packer Township will host a "Fun Show" in the 4-H Ring on June 26. Twenty classes are listed, with trophies and ribbons awarded.

The Jeffries Furniture Store on First Street announced their club winner for June 4 is Dave Hendricks.

There is an ad for a public auction of new tools to be held at the White Haven Community Building on June 14.

Another ad touts the Schaefer 500 at Pocono, "the Indy of the East," on June 26.

The public is invited to a Polka Party at the Pocono Hershey Resort on June 11. Cover charge is $3.50.

Jack Koehler wrote a history column, in which he shared that during the early days of automobiles in Weatherly, 1906 to 1909, during any rains, the roads got muddy and the cars bogged down. When it was dry, the cars would stir up clouds of choking dust. There were instances of cars scaring horse-drawn carriages or freight wagons. The borough passed an ordinance in 1909 setting the speed limit for all cars at 6 mph.

The borough decided to stem erosion of Wilbur Street by paving it from the Gilbert House to First Street, with the costs shared 1/3 to the property owners on the road, and 2/3 by the borough. The Lehigh Valley Railroad owned all the land on the west side of the road, so would have to pay the biggest share. Stone was brought in from quarries in White Haven and hand laid, then the road was paved and curbed at a total cost of just over $2,100.

From The Journal-Herald June 6, 1985

There was a reported tornado in Dennison Township, Penn Lake and nearby last Friday night. Residents remarked the sky took on a "strange look" and that the winds sounded like a freight train, or an airplane. The tornado uprooted trees and did some property damage.

Veterinarian N. Lee Kolos will give the commencement address at the Weatherly Area High School graduation on June 14. Dr. Kolos, a WAHS graduate, earned a B.S. degree in Animal Science from Penn State University in 1972, and a V.M.D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania Veterinary

WH Fire Company sees change to bazaar a plus for volunteers and community

by Ruth Isenberg

It's appropriate that in the 100th anniversary of its incorporation, the White Haven Volunteer Fire Company is returning its annual fundraiser back to its roots. This year, instead of hosting a traveling carnival with rides and concessions of its own, the Fire Company will hold a community Firemen's Bazaar. Company officers see many positives in the move, for their members and for the community.

"We've tossed the idea around for many years," Fire Chief Dean Raudenbush said. "A whole week event is a strain on all of us," and a three-day bazaar, scheduled for the weekend of July 22-24, should be easier to staff.

Fire Company president John Klem said traveling carnival outfits are harder to come by than they used to be. They dictate the dates they are available. "And they take a lot of money out of town," he added.

So the change should help the fire company. But it should also help the community, he added. Attending a carnival can be very expensive for families. Last year, the carnival company charged $15 for handstamps, and prices were high for single ticket rides. That adds up quickly for a family.

To replace the rides, entertainment and games have been added, including bouncy houses and a plush stand.

The fire company is opening the bazaar up to arts and crafts vendors from the area. Applications are available from any member, and cost for a 12 x 12 booth (arts and crafts only) is $75 for all three days.

Favorite events like the Friday night firemen's parade continue. A feature that used to be a tradition, and that has been re-introduced at recent carnivals, is the cakewalk. That will take place on Sunday afternoon, and there will be a special prize category for cakes decorated in honor of the 100th anniversary. (The fire company was organized in 1864, but it took until 1916 to be incorporated.)

Food, of course, is an important aspect, and the fire company will provide all the usual favorite items, especially the home-made haluski.

Entertainment is being stepped up. Friday night will feature Jeanie Zano, from 7-11. Saturday's music is from country-western band Licker'd Up, from 6-10. And Saturday afternoon, a new time for the event, White Haven's own Bounty Hunter will take the stage from 2-6. Beer will be available all three days.

Fire company members feel positive about the change. "Change is good," said veteran firefighter David Searfoss.

"We're looking forward to it," added Raudenbush. Sounds like the community should be looking forward to it too!

Lehigh Township Building facelift approved

by Donnell Stump

Lehigh Township Supervisors Larry Skinner and Jill Redash-Capossela got the monthly meeting started on Monday, June 6 with Supervisor Wayne Wagner arriving a little later. The two first approved the minutes of the May meeting with no corrections, and approved the Treasurer's Report as presented. The bills were amended so that the EFPTS return was raised from $177.96 to $232.78 while the commission for Tax Collector Teresa Barna was also increased from $22.37 to $249.99 reflecting two months of commission payments.

A single quote was obtained for the painting of the municipal building. Seven packages were sent to potential contractors compiled from an internet search and the phone book. One packet was returned, unopened and five firms did not respond. Hazleton Painting, Inc. submitted a quote of $9,875 which included pressure washing and priming the building and roof prior to painting. Questions were raised about warranties regarding workmanship as well as the paint itself. Wagner arrived at the meeting while this discussion was taking place and indicated that the price seems reasonable as the last time the building was painted was approximately 15 years ago at a cost of around $6,000. The quote packet provided proof of insurance but did not specify the warranty. The contract will be awarded based on the information available, but Hazleton Painting will be asked to provide documentation regarding the warranties. This firm had expressed interest last year and had provided to the Township detailed information regarding type of materials used and the process to be followed.

Solomon Container has sent notice that the cost of doing business with the Township will rise from $100 per month to $295 for the recycling program. Solomon provides the containers that are used to collect recyclable materials and picks up the material weekly. The location at the Township building has three bins, but residents and others using them find that they are often full before collection day. To help alleviate that problem and prevent anyone from placing bags on the ground outside of the bins, a fourth bin will be delivered by the company. According to Wagner the cost will remain at $295 per month even with inclusion of the additional receptacle because it is a per site charge. Lehigh shares responsibility for this collection location with Lausanne Township. Lausanne will now be responsible for a monthly payment of $98.33 with Lehigh's share $196.67. Skinner agreed with renewing the contract even at the increased cost, but said "We need signage funded by Lehigh and Lausanne; what is recyclable; and not to put anything outside of the bins on the ground." Regardless of whether bags or boxes left outside of the bins contain recyclables, they are considered trash or litter. The Township has the right to enforce litter laws and cite anyone caught disposing of trash in the bins or of leaving anything outside of the container.

Lehigh Township recently reached out to Tamaqua Transfer asking for a one year extension to the current contract, which expires December 31, 2016. Tamaqua Transfer agreed to the one year extension with the same terms and costs.

Supervisors were asked to designate how they would like to receive insurance policy information from Brown and Brown. The designation is needed to comply with federal regulations regarding electronic transmission of business documents. Secretary/treasurer Carol Lenahan asked to have electronic delivery as well as paper copies of the documents.

Two draft letters, one to Berkheimer regarding garbage account billing and one to Creditech regarding collection of delinquent garbage fees, were discussed. These letters are asking for assistance in processing changes to the accounts or updates in the documentation process that are not spelled out in the original contract. Concern has been raised that when changes are made to garbage accounts (names of residents or property owner information), the actual billing record is not changed in a timely manner resulting in garbage fees going uncollected. The Township is asking that changes be updated quarterly and notice sent to the township immediately. Creditech has been hand-writing account numbers on the statements and the Township is asking that they have that information printed.

The L&L Volunteer Fire Company recently obtained a Township permit to build a pavilion. During the June meeting, Supervisors waived the $57.60 fee that would have been paid to the Township.

Supervisors tabled a decision on the disposition of Leslie Run Road. This topic has been discussed numerous times over the past few years and at this point the Township is awaiting a letter from Harrisburg indicating that the state will take over maintenance.

Redash-Capossela reported CFL light bulb recycling is ongoing but that the material will be sent in bulk so the Township can take advantage of free shipping.

She reported that discrepancies noted in the audit as printed were corrected and the audit was republished.

Redash-Capossela also raised concerns regarding the Rockport Church and its ownership. She indicated that a re-assessment was planned for the former St. John's United Church of Christ structure, but a determination was made that the property is still tax exempt, even though it has not been used as a church, or for anything else, in several years. Wagner responded that the Penn Northeast Conference of the UCC is aware of inquiry about the property and is working to determine ownership. Another concern is that the building does not have a physical address and the county has been using just RR 2, Weatherly. Skinner, who had worked on giving physical addresses to all structures in the Township some years ago, responded, saying "Maybe I should give the building a physical address."

The July meeting will be held on Tuesday, July 5 due to the Independence Day Holiday on Monday, July 4. The meeting will start at 7 p.m.

3rd Annual Military Appreciation Day

Keystone Harley-Davidson® will hold its 3rd Annual Military Appreciation Day on June 11 at 10 a.m. on the dealership grounds at 770 State Road, Parryville. This event serves as a means to recognize the service and sacrifice made by the men and women of the United States Armed Forces and to celebrate Flag Day.

"We recognize our dedicated servicemen and women each year in June on a weekend close to Flag Day to say thank you to all who have defended our great country, giving us the right to fly our flag," said Debra Brittingham, Marketing Communications Manager at Keystone Harley-Davidson®. "We have many active duty, veteran, and retired service members in our community and it is our honor to honor each and every one of them."

After an invocation by US Army Veteran Pastor Jed Smurda, Pastor and National President of Kingdom Warriors MC, Warriors' Watch Riders member Jan Rider will read "I Am Your Flag" written by US Marine MSgt. Percy Webb as the US and POW MIA flags are raised.

David Rider, Assistant State Coordinator of Warriors' Watch Riders (East Central PA), will lead a recognition ceremony where we present "Welcome Home" certificates to a group of veterans- some who may never have heard those words before.

This year's program will include musical performances by Angela Marie Nardini, a well-known local talent who returns for her 3rd year to passionately perform our National Anthem. Dave Bray will also perform. He is a dedicated husband, father, patriot, and musician who served in the U.S. Navy as an 8404 FMF Corpsman for the 2nd Battalion/2nd Marines (STA, PLT). He has devoted his musical career to supporting all military service members and First Responders, and is known to ignite every audience with his powerful version of "God Bless America", which he will perform this year. He'll also perform an acoustic set after the ceremony. To round out the musical talent, local DJ Bruce Womer, a dedicated member of Warriors' Watch Riders, will be spinning some tunes after the ceremony.

Authentic All-American BBQ will be provided by Mission BBQ, who believes there is nothing more American than BBQ and nobody more American than the brave men and women who have sworn to protect and serve our country. Burgers and hot dogs will also be available.

For more information, contact Keystone Harley-Davidson® at 610-379-4055.

Seth's Sightings by Seth Isenberg

Our weekend was races, partly due to NASCAR's visit our area, and partly due to the full plate that kept us dashing from place to place.

Friday was a compressed work day so that we could attend the General Tire 200 ARCA race at Pocono Raceway. It had been on and off rain, but reports assured us that there would be a window to get in the ARCA race. It didn't look too promising as we turned south on Route 115 after coming down the Kidder hill on the interstate. There was this dark, gray cloud that looked to be hovering over the track. When we arrived there, there really was a dark gray cloud hovering over the track, it made Turn One dark. The clouds did not offer up any drizzle, and the race started with the dark cloud in place. After a while it went away. The die-hard fans who had come out enjoyed a pretty good ARCA race, and most of us were able to be home before dark.

Saturday had been predicted to be partly sunny, with perhaps a shower. A much bigger crowd had come to the raceway to watch the Xfinity stock car race. Fans were treated to a mixed bag of racing that eventually was interrupted by a rain shower. Just as the track was dried out, another rain shower came through. Having a Sprint phone, I was able to access Accuweather from the track's good data feed. I could see bad weather on the weather radar, and the coolest thing - the Accuweather minute-cast for the exact place we were standing - which said that for Pocono Raceway there will be rain in 20 minutes, then continuing for over an hour. So we left. We were back in White Haven before we heard the news that the race had been called.

After giving Chess a walk - it wasn't raining in White Haven - we went to the St. Jude's Parish International Food Fest in Mountain Top. The skies were threatening by the time we arrived, but we headed into their grove and picked foods from Lebanon, Mexico, and the USA, while missing out on some Irish food as they had run out. As we finished our last fish taco, we could feel dripping through the trees. We were up and headed to where we had parked, and did beat the coming heavy shower.

Sunday, Ruth had committed to a Rotary Club project at the SWB RailRiders baseball game. I stayed behind to attend the NASCAR race, making it to the track that morning to find it heavily fogged in. Then, it started to drizzle, so not only was it foggy but now was also wet. The weather report had predicted cloudy but dry, with a possible thunderstorm coming during the afternoon. It was wrong; it started to rain steadily. The thunderstorm came through too, after the race was cancelled until Monday. Ruth did get to see about six innings of baseball before the rains came to Moosic as well.

I moved around some work in order to be able to attend the NASCAR race on Monday. The weather was beautiful - and some friends and me enjoyed a top-notch race. I worked afterwards, and that night grabbed my reporter's notebook to cover a township meeting.

The Pittsburgh Penguins have a chance to earn the Stanley Cup tonight (Thursday) at home. They lead their contest with the San Jose Sharks 3 games to 1. Let's Go Penguins. The Wheeling Nailers either win or pack for summer that same night, they are behind in their series with the Allen Americans 2 games to 3. They have to beat Allen twice in Texas to win the Kelly Cup.

I am beginning to follow baseball - the Phillies pursuit of mediocrity and the Red Sox challenging for the top of their division. The Phillies have been awful lately.

Our weekend is light, with the only event to attend a Greek Festival in New Jersey with my uncle Slater on Saturday, the 11th. The next big event we are planning for is the Weatherly Area Community Library fundraising auction on June 24 and 25, and the Celtic Fling at Mt. Hope on the 25th and 26th.

Ali was truly one of a kind

When word of Muhammad Ali's death hit the news wire late Friday night, I immediately had a flashback to my teenage years when I watched many of his memorable fights, and when one of boxing's greatest heavyweights was still near the top of his game. Ali wasn't the most powerful, but was the most athletic and gifted heavyweight boxer I have ever seen put on the gloves. His skills in the ring may never be matched.

I saw the "Fight of the Century" when Ali and Joe Frazier fought for the first time, the "Thrilla in Manila" when he and Frazier went at it for a third time, and in between the "Rumble in the Jungle" when an aging Ali, then 32, knocked out powerful George Foreman to the chants of "Ali booma-ya." This was all after Ali had reached his so-called prime, after he changed his name from Cassius Clay, after he won an Olympic gold medal, after he knocked out Sonny Liston twice, and after he refused to serve in the U.S. Army and was banned from boxing for more than three years.

I also watched Ali in the late stages of his career, and that was as painful as his lightning-quick jab. Few boxers ever know when it's time to leave the ring, and Ali didn't either. I watched as a young Larry Holmes took apart the former three-time champ in 1981, seemingly not wanting to inflict any more punishment on his mentor before the fight was finally stopped. I can still picture a beat-up Ali sitting in his corner, a shot that appeared on the cover of Sports Illustrated. The punches he absorbed that day were some of an estimated 29,000 shots he took over the years, which trembled uncontrollably while lighting the Olympic torch for the Atlanta Games, those close to him said he was at complete peace in his life.

And what a life he lived. Ali was truly one of a kind.

POCONO DELAY - Race fans had to endure a rainy Sunday to finally get to race day at Pocono this past weekend. A soaking rain forced officials to postpone the Axalta "We Paint Winners" 400 Sunday at Pocono Raceway, and move it to Monday afternoon. Regardless, a good crowd was still on hand to witness a race full of caution flags (12) and plenty of excitement, and a finish where fuel mileage was thought to be huge, but ultimately became a non-factor.

After it all, Kurt Busch prevailed for his first win of the season, punching his ticket to the Chase for the Championship later this year. Dale Earnhardt Jr. held off hard-charging pole-sitter Brad Keselowski for second place.

The drivers will return to Pocono later this summer for another 400-miler.

HILLCLIMB WEEKEND - Auto racing fans can get another dose of speed - albeit a different kind - when cars and drivers from across the country converge on Weatherly this weekend for the first of its twice-annual Weatherly Hillclimb.

Racers tackle "the hill" Saturday and Sunday, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. each day. Great food and plenty of fun will also be a part of the weekend festivities, which include a parade on Friday evening and fireworks on Saturday evening. Parking and admission are free throughout the weekend.

no doubt led to the onset of Parkinson's disease that ravaged his once-sculpted body and muted a mouth that ran for decades - and offended millions.

But as outspoken as Ali was during his career, he was beloved by those close to him. He trained for many of his fights in nearby Deer Lake, and became friends with many of the locals in the Schuylkill County backwoods. His longtime business manager and friend, Gene "Bucko" Kilroy hailed from Mahanoy City.

He became a bigger-than-life person during and after he left the ring, promoted Islam and black equality, and championed many causes, including the United Cerebral Palsy, and the Muhammad Ali Boxing Reform Act. Though it was sad indeed to see Ali later in life, including the summer of 1996 when he

Weatherly notched BR victory

Winning pitcher Carl McHugh tossed a two-hitter and struck out eight as Weatherly defeated West Hazleton Booster Club 5-1 in Valley Junior Babe Ruth action last week. Steph Yurchak clubbed a two-run homer and single for Weatherly, while Kevin Osifat doubled and Antonio Colecio and Ryan Bersavage both had a single. Denny Ramirez accounted for Booster Club's only run with a solo homer. Austin Yeager added a single.

Four Crestwood players and Comets boys coach Brian Zabroski were part of the Wyoming Valley Lacrosse Officials Association's inaugural senior all-star games last Monday at Scranton Prep's Loyola Field. Seniors from all nine Wyoming Valley Conference girls and all nine WVC boys teams competed in the season-ending event.

In the girls' half of the all-star doubleheader, Crestwood's Paige Zaleppa scored one goal as her East team beat the West 13-7. Coughlin's Kristi Pearage led the winners with five goals. Dallas' Katie Kapral had three goals for the West.

Meanwhile, Crestwood's Lance Lysiak (one goal, two assists) and Johnny Macri (one assist) contributed to the Blue team's 11-10 win over the White in the boys game. Dallas' Cory Metz top the Blue with six goals; while the Comets' Ryan Magin put in five goals and assisted on another tally for the White. Zabroski coached the winning Blue squad.

Fall sport physicals for girls entering seventh, eighth and ninth grades will be held on Wednesday, July 13.

Students with the last name A to L should arrive at 8:15 a.m. and girls with the last name M to Z should arrive at 10 a.m.

Fall sport physicals for all male athletes will take place Wednesday, August 10.

Students with the last name beginning A to L should arrive at 8:15 a.m. and students with the last name M to Z should arrive at 10 a.m.

All physicals will be performed in the elementary/middle school health office this year, not in the high school building.

Students should pick up their PIAA form in the middle or high school office before coming for their physical. It must be completed by a parent and returned at the time of the physical.

IMPACT concussion testing will be conducted as part of the physical exam, so students should allow for extra time.

Those who are unable to attend on their designated day are welcome to attend on an alternate day.
