Protecting our police

by Seth & Ruth Isenberg

We're lucky to have police in White Haven. Over the years a lot of hard work has been put in to find the money to keep White Haven protected. Weatherly Borough has the size and the dollars to protect its people. Both departments are little islands, so we have police officers watching over us, keeping us safer.

They also have us, their communities' people, watching over them. And after the weeks such as we've just had, our attention has become very important.

Recent incidents where a small number of police officers have made the wrong choice that have ended in tragedy have sparked understandable anger. This anger has expressed itself in many ways, from peaceful protests to insulting tweets designed to incite violence. In Dallas, this anger spilled out in the worst possible way. Police officers protecting a peaceful protest were targeted and killed.

We must not fall into the trap of taking out anger on the wrong targets. Groups should not be punished for the actions of individuals, whether those individuals are police or protesters.

We rely on our area's police departments to keep life safe for us all. They need to be able to rely on us to support them, and look out for their safety as well.

Lehigh Township receives grant for Pump House Road stream crossing

by Donnell Stump

The Lehigh Township Supervisors agreed to accept a grant for more than $36,000 for the stream crossing under Pump House Road during their July 5 meeting. Carbon Engineering and representatives of the Carbon County Conservation District met with the Supervisors earlier this summer to discuss the project. The work can begin after the required permit from the Department of Environmental Protection is received.

A Planning Commission hearing is needed for a project for Joe and Teresa Barna. Carbon County has already reviewed it.

In the absence of secretary/treasurer Carol Lenahan, supervisors' chairman Larry Skinner reviewed the minutes of the June 6 meeting and the treasurer's report. Both were accepted as presented. He also reviewed bills to be paid, adding two to the printed list—$79.99 for Verizon and $78 for Journal Newspapers. The three supervisors, Skinner and Jill Redash-Capossela and Wayne Wagner, approved the bills to be paid in the total amount of $1,837.87 from the general fund and $4,028.33 from the garbage fund with an additional $901.66 for payroll.

No report was available from the L & L Fire Company. Zoning Officer Leonard Weston reported one permit issued for an addition.

Skinner reported issuing an address of 499 Miller Lane. No garbage account is needed yet as no occupancy permit has been issued.

Skinner also asked for agreement on the wording to be used for signs that will be installed at the recycling bins. The signs will inform the public that the bins are to be used for recyclable materials only and that they are provided through the efforts of the Lehigh and Lausanne Township Supervisors. It will also list penalties for misuse—disposing of trash instead of recyclables.

Resident Barb Tissier asked who will enforce the penalty—State Police? Both Skinner and Wagner replied, "probably us." Wagner noted that an additional bin was dropped off that day (Tuesday, July 5) as the other bins were being emptied. He is hopeful that the additional space will help prevent recyclable material from being placed on the ground due to the bins being overfull. Lausanne Township has paid Lehigh in advance for three months of recycling.

Redash-Capossela reported on 60 garbage accounts that were dealt with in the past month; of those four were paid in full while 56 account holders used payment plan options.

The ongoing situation with Leslie Run Road continues with additional information coming from the state, but nothing in writing as to when the state will take over responsibility for a portion of the road. When the state does take over maintenance, the temporary barricades can come down.

Regarding the painting of the municipal building, paint color samples were available with Wagner indicating preference for green. The paint to be used carries a one year warranty. At the June meeting, supervisors agreed to have Hazleton Painting Inc. do the work. Of the seven painting contractors contacted, they were the only firm to submit a quote. The quote of $9,875 includes the paint and labor. Skinner noted during the June meeting that the work could not be done until the replacement doors have been received and installed.

The next meeting of the Supervisors will be Monday, August 1 at 7 p.m.

Sidewalks open for business in White Haven borough

by Ruth Isenberg

By a 4-1 vote, White Haven Borough Council amended two sections of its sidewalk ordinance to remove a prohibition on sidewalk sales during their meeting on June 29. Council didn't give Main Street merchants a free pass, though.

Stressing that safety issues meant that rules had to be enforced, especially on the busy corner of Main and Berwick Streets, council president John Klem called for oversight of the area.

Council member Bob Lamson agreed, noting that although the borough wants to help the tourist-related businesses now active in town, the vendors should deal with safety issues themselves, so council doesn't have to come back with harsher regulations. "It's not rocket science," Lamson said. "Don't stand in the street."

Voting in favor of the changes, which will allow merchants and restaurants to use the sidewalk area closest to their establishment as long as they meet Americans with Disabilities Act guidelines and leave a 3' path at all times, were council members Charlie Best, Klem, Lamson and Rose Swerdon. Clyde Morrison voted no, saying he felt current regulations should be enforced. Tim Janosco and Joe Knowles were absent.

A meeting has been set up to discuss another area of traffic concern, the exit from the White Haven Market parking lot into the Lehigh Gorge Park. A resident brought the issue to council, saying drivers are unsure about who has the right of way when exiting the parking lot. The borough cannot put stop signs on private property, but will meet with them to see what can be done.

Another meeting on traffic areas of concern will take place today, July 14, when an informal PUC session will bring together representatives of the Blue Mountain, Northern and Reading Railroad and borough officials with PUC representatives to talk about complaints about the railroad crossings on Berwick and Northumberland Streets. The borough solicitor and engineer will also attend.

Engineer Don Totino reported that work was scheduled to begin on the Hemlock Street Park in the next two weeks.

Letter to the Editor

Letter to the Editor

Your 6/23 article mentioning Penn Lake PEMA/FEMA reimbursement is an effective rebuttal to an assertion made by former councilwoman Jill Rosenstock in her letter referenced therein. Her assertion: "...they have dropped the ball and denied Penn Lake the receipt of $14,905.72." is directly refuted in the article where you state: "The pursuit of the

FEMA/PEMA money... is still ongoing."

The "lack of cooperation" cited in the article can be better characterized as a "lack of information." Ms. Rosenstock failed to turn over the files after leaving office. She finally turned them over on 5/27, nearly five full months after vacating her seat. It's interesting to note that she shared the information with your newspaper before returning the files to the borough- the rightful owner.

Also in her letter: "Penn Lake lost nearly $15,000 in budgeted revenue." is untrue. We specifically did not budget for these funds, the reason being that this was the 3rd year in a row that Ms. Rosenstock stated that the funds were about to arrive. They never did.

What is the 30 day deadline? To obtain retroactive permits required for the reimbursement. Why didn't we get the permits in the first place? Mrs. Rosenstock failed to obtain proper permits up front, and is trying to blame current council for her failure.

The list of miss-truths, half-truths, and fact free assertions in the letter is extensive. One falsehood that needs to be called out is that we have increased legal and engineering costs.

In 2013, the last year of Ms. Rosenstocks majority council, legal and engineering costs were $22,844. Current council reduced those costs to $3,562 (2014) and $6,256 (2015).

Ms Rosenstock did a good job in obtaining grants in her years on Penn Lake council. She would help the borough and her own reputation if she would temper her self-promotion and desire to discredit council with less hot air and more facts.

Korean War Armistice, 63 Years Ago (part 1)

To the memory and honor of those who fought and served in the Korean War, the people of our nation owes and carries the thanks and gratitude earned of those who endured the "Forgotten War." But our government does not, it promotes and bears dishonor and deceit of the brave men and women who fought to defeat the socialist communist government bent on world domination.

SEOUL, South Korea — North Korea said Monday it will end a diplomatic communication channel with the United States and hinted at harsher punishment for Americans detained in the country in retaliation for U.S.

Sanctions that target leader Kim Jong Un. They have also been conducting missile tests to enable a nuclear attack against the United States.

From a press statement by the United Nations Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs: UN Emergency Fund Releases $8 Million to Assist Most Vulnerable Women and Children in North Korea (Bangkok, 2 February 2016): United Nations Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon on 29 January 2016 released an additional $8 million from the UN Central Emergency Response Fund (87% of funds provided from USA) for severely underfunded aid operations in the People's Democratic Republic of Korea. These funds will enable life-saving assistance for more than 2.2 million people most vulnerable and at risk of malnutrition.

Source: U.S. Assistance to North Korea: Mark E. Manyin and Mary Beth Nikitin Since 1995 but decreasing in recent years and remains unreported since 2011, the people of the United States have provided North Korea with over $1 billion per year in assistance with the funds given directly to the North Korean government with 60% of which to pay for food aid and 40% paying for energy assistance.

Recently our Government announced the cutting of "Food Aid" but approved additional funds of $8 to 200 million through the United Nations, which I think is just another smoke screen. The population of North Korea is roughly 25 million people. If correct, a billion dollars given for food and heating oil/coal/electricity would equal $40 per person each year. But each person only receives 11¢ per year from their government, so $39.89 each goes somewhere else — likely military spending.

According to the 2015 World Military Expenditures and Arms Transfers report by the US State Department, North Korea spends 25.7% of its economic output on its military. The average annual expenditures for nations worldwide are about 2%.

This is the foreign aid deception I write about. No other country in the world may be compared to North Korea, where the population starves yet bears an incredible military burden. So as taxpayers, why do we the people allow for 25% of our foreign aid to fund the military of a rogue nation? We see the poor cold starving North Korean people on the news and it brings out our compassion. Yet in the same news, we see the missile tests, the torture of our citizens and that hard earned American money you thought was buying rice, meat and vegetables being burned up in failed missile launches (these missiles' only purpose is to threaten our allies, our bases in Guam and Okinawa, Hawaii, and even the U.S.'s west coast.

Community lunch program seeks volunteers

Saint Paul's Lutheran Church has been hosting a community lunch in the parish hall, rear Berwick Street, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week. Serving time is 11:30 a.m., and everyone is welcome.

It is a nice break from the heat of the summer, to have someone else prepare a tasty meal, and desert. If you, or someone you know, would like to get out of the house for a short time and enjoy some good fellowship with our neighbors and friends, we have a seat for you at our table. If you are able, a small donation of $2 is asked to help cover the food costs.

Beginning in August, we will be in urgent need of volunteers from the community to assist in the heating and serving of the meals. Could you spare 2 1/2 hours, 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., one day, every other week? There are people needed each of the three days in order for the luncheon program to continue.

To volunteer, call John Toft, 570-443-7130, and let him know when you are available. This is a great opportunity to help in the continuation of a worthy service for White Haven, and the surrounding areas.

Hot Town, Summer in the Village

Known already for its inexpensive shows, the Mauch Chunk Opera House has put together $10 and $15 shows on certain Thursdays and Fridays this summer. Their slogan is "Hot Town, Summer in the Village," a nod to John Sebastian (who performed at the Opera House in 2008) and his famous song, "Summer in the City."

Starting with the Blues Sisters on July 21, the Opera House puts remarkable entertainment within reach of anyone. The $10 Thursday shows began with the Shockenaw Mountain Boys last July 8, and are bookended by the exciting August 4 visit by Chicago's Steepwater Band and Denver's The Congress.

$15 Fridays begin with the July 16 Incendio appearance. From LA, Incendio is known for its amazing musicianship and world music which draws upon influences as diverse as Andres Segovia and Led Zeppelin. They continue with Ari Hest and guest, Lily Mae, both alluring singer-songwriters appearing in Jim Thorpe on July 29.

"The slogan ought to be "Cool Town, Summer in the Village," says Dan Hugos, one of the producers at the Opera House. "It's usually 5 degrees cooler here than down in the valley, and it's just a cool place to be any time of year."

Their posters for each show has a red and white "Hot Town" logo on it, letting potential ticket buyers know the shows are only $10 and $15.

Tickets are available 24/7 on the Opera House website, www.mcohit.com, by visiting SoundCheck Records in downtown Jim Thorpe from 10 a.m. – 9 p.m., by calling them at 570-325-4009, or simply by coming to the Opera House at 7 p.m. when doors open. The shows begin at 8 p.m.

Seth's Sightings by Seth Isenberg

It's always fun to attend a business opening. This past Wednesday, we were in Jim Thorpe to attend the opening of the new Somersault, a creative letterpress printing business. It's a store, it's a printshop, it's more; it's clever and certainly creative.

Thursday we were in Wilkes-Barre to pick up some of our own printing, so we also scheduled a couple of errands. One of these should have been easy—getting a new watchband. But no! It took seven stops to finally find someone to sell us one and put the watchband on. We started by thinking the mall would have something but neither of the jewelers, nor JC-Penney had watchbands. Next stop was Van Scoy's—also no. K-Mart's jewelry counter had watchbands, but no one to install them. The little town jeweler in an obscure neighborhood was closed for vacation, so we ended up in the Boscov's department store downtown (after three tries to find the right road for their parking garage). Once there, the experienced staff behind the jewelry counter took out an old box of tools and in about 15 minutes, I was all set. I paid a reasonable price—so I left a tip. As a bonus, we bought a couple of items and earned free parking. I've forgotten the pleasure of that downtown store. Ruth remembers shopping there as a kid—but that's another story.

After a full day of work on Friday, we enjoyed a light bazaar dinner. St. Patrick's Parish in White Haven was holding its annual festival, and families had cooked up some Polish specialties. We enjoyed some haluski, then took some halupki home for Clara.

The hot weather finally broke so I took the opening and did some yard work on Saturday morning while the temperatures remained pleasant. Our yard has a nice batch of lilies, and some of our wildflowers are starting. That afternoon we drove to Pocono Pines to enjoy Tobyhanna Township Community Day. There we visited booths and bought some supper. As a treat, we enjoyed dessert from the Wood's Ice Cream Truck. The sky had been cloudy all day, and as we headed west after 6 it began to drizzle. Up ahead we could see threatening clouds, and these clouds made good on their threat by releasing heavy rain. By the time we had passed Blakeslee and were into Kidder Township, it was really pouring. But as we got to Moseywood Road, the rain stopped and we could see there was going to be a beautiful sunset.

The return to good weather was a good thing, as Ruth and I had planned to be at the Briggs Farm Blues Festival that night to watch the moon rise, and enjoy fireflies and some firey music from headliner Devon Allman. At Briggs before 8, we found a good spot up the hill and settled in for a fine show. The temperature was perfect, and as a bonus, all the clouds moved out so we were able to see all sorts of stars and constellations.

I went back late on Sunday morning to enjoy performances by Victor Wainwright and his band The Wildroots, then Alexis P. Suter with the Ministers of Sound. Wainwright and The Wildroots were great. The Ministers of Sound were terrific. Suter and Wainwright singing together were a treat.

Sightings this week include a small bear that I spotted racing across the road into Weatherly. I thought I saw it had some goody in its mouth. We also saw a coyote cross Route 940 just west of Golden Oaks. On our way home one evening we surprised a fox. Not exactly a sighting, but while at the Briggs Farm Blues Festival after dark on Saturday, we scented a strong whiff of skunk. Not seeing any mad rush of concert goers, we shared a laugh because some camper probably surprised that skunk.

This weekend, we look to attend both the L&L Fire Co. Homecoming, and the Mountain Top Hose Co. bazaar.

Every year in mid to late July the Lehigh and Lausanne Rural Volunteer Fire Company holds its annual homecoming event. The event will take place the weekend of July 15 and 16 at the fire company's grounds at 390 South Lehigh Gorge Drive, Weatherly.

The doors will open Friday at 5 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. on Saturday. Committee chair Dana Maines said that this year many new things have been added for the children to do, including new games and pony rides. A dunk tank has been added and the fire company is hoping to have a few local celebrities sitting in the tank.

There will be, as always, a large variety of food and plenty of entertainment. Friday night's musical entertainment will be Dan Flok and the Ravens. Their song selection is large and covers all genres. Saturday night is Better With Beer, a classic rock and blues band.

Fire Chief Tim Rossman pointed out why this event is so important to the fire company and how the some of the money raised is used over the year. "Over the past year we have made many improvements and purchased some much needed equipment along with paying our monthly operational expenses. Unlike some fire companies, we need to pay for our own fuel for the trucks. We pay all of our maintenance cost, our insurance; Lehigh Township does help with our insurance, which we are very grateful for. We buy all of our equipment. It costs around $8000.00 to $10,000.00 to equip one firefighter and this does not include training.

We recently purchased a rescue truck, which was needed. We are currently working on upgrades to the building like new LED light in the truck bays; which we did get a grant to help defer that expense. The donations we receive from the people, our friends and neighbors, the area business, and events like our homecoming are what keeps us going."

Rossman urged everyone to come out enjoy the food and beverages and have a great time.

White Haven...

He presented a sketch for improvements to the municipal building, including utilization of the upstairs for offices. Plans for the roof are in the hands of DCED, and he is waiting for approval; the work will be done in August or September.

Quotes were obtained for the fire company heating project.

New fees have been established for landlord/tenant inspections. Fee for 1 or 2 units is $110, for 3 or 4 units $200, and for five units or more, $50 each. There is also a 10% administration fee to the borough.

Manager Linda Szoke told the borough that the annual manager's conference is in Pittsburgh this year, and will cost $900 rather than the budgeted $400. Council approved her attendance.

She also read a letter from the White Haven Library thanking the borough and ambulance for help moving some heavy equipment into the library.

Tax collection receipts for May were $2,972.50.

Operations manager Gary Shupp gave a report for the White Haven Ambulance, saying they made 400 calls in the first half of the year. They have received two grants, and have plans to participate in the Annual Night Out with the police department, and to hold a block shoot on October 15.

Resignations were accepted from part-time police officers Molinaro and Hendrick; both were hired by other departments. Interviews will be held for additional part-time officers.

Patrick McKennely was hired as a summer grass cutter.

An executive session for personnel reasons was held at the close of the meeting. The next meeting on Monday, July 25, at 7 p.m. at the municipal building.

Baseball's first half was surprising, and predictable

Baseball season has reached its midway point, with the annual All-Star Game held Tuesday in San Diego. The first half of the season was at times surprising, and predictable as well.

The best team in baseball, at least up until a week or so ago, was the Chicago Cubs. That was hardly a surprise, though the way the Cubbies have so dominated their opponents through the season's first 81 games certainly was. Entering the All-Star break, Chicago's Northsiders had outscored the opposition by 139 runs (460-321), clearly the biggest differential in baseball. The NL East-leading Washington Nationals were a distant second (plus-105) in that department, and no other team was close to a 100-run differential.

Hazleton native Joe Maddon knows how to get his teams to play, and the Cubs have as much talent - including plenty of young talent - to make a serious run at their first World Series championship in more than a century. Although they looked as though they would run away with the NL Central title as late as mid-June, their first real slump of the season

On The Sly

by Steve Stallone, Sports Editor

(they lost eight of 10 and 12 of their last 16 heading to the break) came at the same time that division rivals St. Louis and Pittsburgh began to pick up steam. The Cards have since climbed within seven games of the division lead, while the Bucs won eight of their last 10 - including two of three against the Cubs - to move within 7.5 games of first. That's the closest they've been to first since June 1.

Prior to the season, most predicted the NL Central would be a three-team sprint to the finish. After a sluggish start by both the Cardinals and Pirates, that three-team race seems to be shaping up after all.

In the NL East, the Philadelphia Phillies got out of the gate hot before cooling off in time for the arrival of summer. Meanwhile, the Nationals have surged to a six-game lead over the Mets and surprising Marlins in what could be a three-team race as well.

As for the NL West, well, it IS an even year, isn't it? That means it's the year of the Giants, as San Francisco has taken a 6.5-game lead over the rival Dodgers at the break. The Giants have won three World Series championships (2010, 2012, 2014) on the last three even years. Could 2016 be their year again?

Some good races appear to be shaping up in the American League as well.

The Baltimore Orioles have a slim two-game lead over both Boston and Toronto in an AL East usually ruled by the New York Yankees. The Jays have won eight of 10 and the BoSox seven of their last 10 to close the gap. The Yanks are sitting at .500, 7.5 games off the pace and searching for answers.

The Cleveland Indians have been one of baseball's surprise teams, with a 52-36 mark and an 81-run differential at the break. The Tribe has a 6-7 game lead over Detroit, favored Kansas City and the Chicago White Sox.

And out West, the Texas Rangers have set the pace over the Astros and Mariners, although the Rangers' run differential (plus-16) is the lowest of any division leader. While the third-place Mariners are just a game over .500 and 8.5 games back of the first-place Rangers, their run differential (plus-51) is the best in the division.

SERENA'S SLAM - Serena Williams captured her 22nd Grand Slam tennis title on Saturday, defeating Angelique Kerber in straight sets at Wimbledon. By doing so, Serena tied Steffi Graf for the most major championships in the Open era, which began in 1968. She stands behind only Margaret Court's all-time mark of 24.

It was also Williams' seventh singles win at the All England Tennis Club, moving her within two of Martina Navratilova's nine Wimbledon titles in the Open era.

Now Williams has seven Wimbledon titles, six each from the U.S. and Australian Opens, and three at the French Open.

Serena brought home a second championship trophy later Saturday, teaming with older sister Venus to win the women's doubles championship, their 14th Grand Slam doubles title together.

At 34, Serena doesn't appear to be slowing down. The world's top-ranked player is the best I've seen, and I grew up watching Navratilova, Chris Evert and Graf dominate women's tennis. Serena will likely retire as the best woman to ever play the game.
